GOPHER FOOTBALL

2006

It's a Great Time to be a Golden Gopher.

Our 2005 season ended with another Bowl Game. The Golden Gophers took on the Virginia Cavaliers, appearing in their sixth bowl in seven years. Along with our accomplishments on the field, we have enjoyed off-the-field success in the classroom and in the community. The University of Minnesota, the 'U', is the only Division I football program in this great State of Minnesota. As part of our player development, we give back to our loyal supporters through strong graduation rates, community service and "play hard" competitive football.

The U is an outstanding University which is consistently ranked as a Top Three Public University. Minnesota offers 145 academic majors or the opportunity to design your own. The faculty ranks among the Top Ten public institutions in the nation. It is located between two great cities, Minneapolis and St. Paul, which offer many opportunities for you to build a strong future.

Adding to the excitement surrounding our football program, the University is bringing Gopher Football back to campus. The Minnesota State Legislature recently passed a new on-campus stadium bill for the Golden Gophers. TCF Bank Stadium will make its debut in the Fall of 2009.

The University of Minnesota offers strong academic success, a tradition-rich football program, a city to call home, and soon will offer the newest college football stadium amongst BCS teams.

Go Gophers!

HISTORIC RIVALRIES

Minnesota Football is steeped in tradition over its 124-year history. From its first Big Ten title in 1900, accomplishments such as six national titles, including five in eight years (1934-41), to recent bowl game trips, the Golden Gopher program has instilled a great sense of pride in its fans, alumni and followers.

Golden Gopher Football also enjoys some unique traditions, such as competing for four rivalry trophies. The Minnesota-Wisconsin rivalry is one of the most prestigious and anticipated series in the history of athletics. It's the most played rivalry in college football history at 115 contests and the annual winner takes home Paul Bunyan's Axe. Some of Minnesota's other Big Ten rivalries are also among the top in college football. Minnesota faces Michigan for the Little Brown Jug, for the 103rd time this season. The two foes began playing for the Jug in 1903. Border rivals Minnesota and Iowa have competed annually for the Floyd of Rosedale trophy since 1935, while Penn State and the Golden Gophers compete for the Governor's Victory Bell. Minnesota was Penn State's inaugural Big Ten game in 1993.

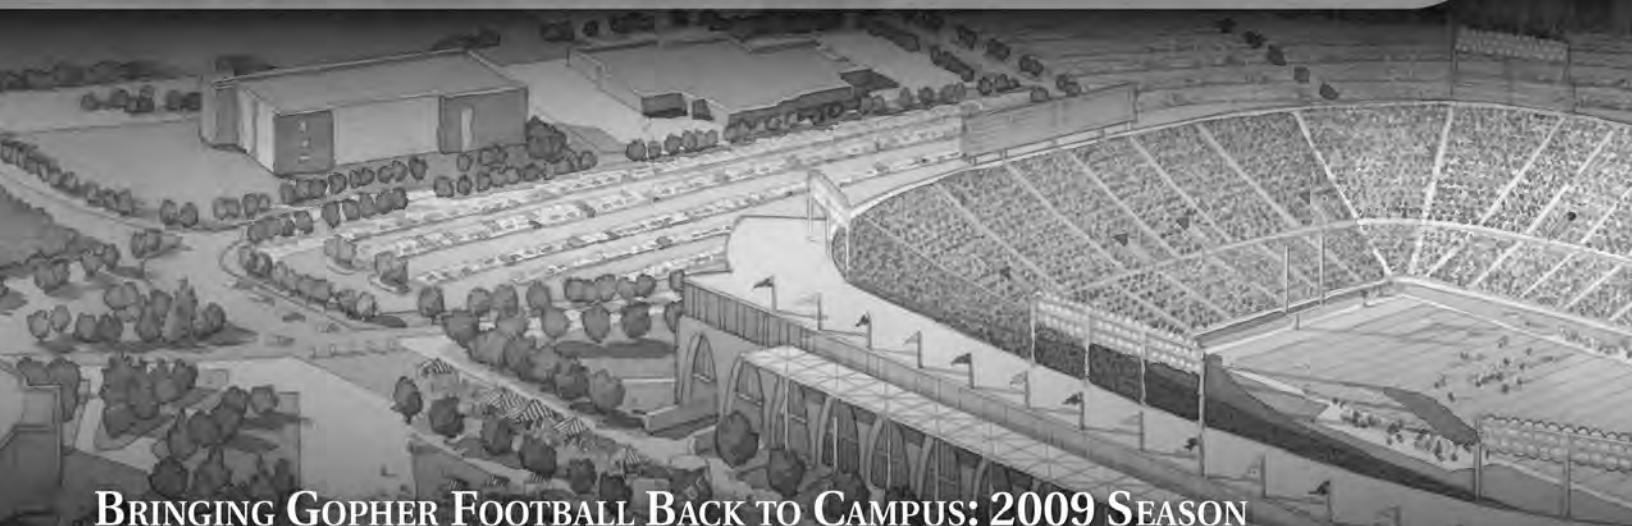
TCF BANK STADIUM™

Opening in 2009



Bringing Gopher Football Back to Campus: 2009 Season

The University of Minnesota is bringing Gopher Football back to campus. The new TCF Bank Stadium will be an important, symbolic center of campus life. It will be a place for students to gather with family, faculty, alumni, and friends for all-University events, enhancing the campus life experience in a way that cannot be replicated. The University of Minnesota is a valuable asset to the state, and a new campus stadium will bring pride to our citizens for generations to come.

In May 2006, the Minnesota legislature made the U of M's stadium a reality, approving a new $248 million Gopher Football stadium. The stadium will be a 50,000-seat, open-air facility. The University plans to break ground on the facility during the summer of 2006.

The announcement of TCF Bank's $35 million commitment to this stadium energized the campaign by giving it a sense of reality and urgency. The Gophers have played football in Minnesota for 120 years and will continue to play here for 120 more. TCF Bank Stadium will be the new home for Gopher Football, a place for the campus community and Minnesotans to celebrate together.

Former Gopher letterman and current Indianpolis Colts head coach TONY DUNGY visited the State Capitol and spoke in support of the new Gopher stadium.

Minnesota Governor Tim Pawlenty signed the Gopher stadium bill into law at the McNamara Alumni Center with Head Coach Glen Mason, Athletics Director Joel Maturi and president Robert Bruininks.

TCF Bank Stadium will be an outdoor, collegiate-style stadium offering architecture and style similar to what is already seen on campus. This classic 50,000 seat facility will show a red brick façade to blend with the collegiate landscape while offering a synthetic turf grass that has proven durable and safe. In addition to mixing a nostalgic look with modern technology, the stadium will offer:

- 39 suites
- 1,250 outdoor club seats
- 300 indoor club seats
- 30,000 square foot Club Room
- Two exterior hospitality plazas
- A Golden Gopher Hall of Fame
- State of the art signage and electronic display boards
- Expandable to an 80,000 seat capacity
- In addition to serving as a home for our football team, the facility will enable the campus to host concerts, other major sporting events, graduation and convocation ceremonies and other entertainment
- Home of the Golden Gopher Marching Band

Gophers Will Be Brand New

With the scheduled opening of the new Gopher Football stadium on campus in 2009, Minnesota will become the first Big Ten program in nearly 50 years to have a brand new on-campus stadium. While many of them have undergone significant renovations, Minnesota will be the only Big Ten institution with a completely new facility.

TCF Bank Stadium will also be the first Division I stadium built from scratch since Stanford opened a new stadium in 2006 and Pittsburgh and Connecticut added new off-campus stadiums in 2001. Only two on-campus stadiums will have been built by a BCS Conference school since West Virginia and Syracuse constructed new fields in 1980. Louisville built Papa John's Stadium on-campus in 1998 while it was a member of the non-BCS Conference USA.

OUTDOOR PRACTICE FACILITY

Every collegiate program in the nation knows that success begins on the practice field and in the classroom. The University of Minnesota is committed to that success, and it shows in the facilities that it provides for its student-athletes. The Gibson-Nagurski Football Complex is one of the finest in the country, providing players with two and one-half full-sized AstroPlay® practice fields, both indoor and outdoor. AstroPlay® is the latest in artificial turf technology. It is a long-blade artificial grass that looks and plays like natural grass but holds up like artificial turf. Minnesota was the first major program in the country to go exclusively with AstroPlay® as a practice surface. Along with the state-of-the-art fields, Minnesota offers a 12,000-square foot, multi-level weight room - one of the largest in the nation, a spacious locker room, an equipment room, a brand new state-of-the-art training room, a full steam room and sauna, and private meeting rooms for every position on the team. When practice is over, the players can kick back and relax or study in their comfortable and accommodating lounge, equipped with two large-screen televisions, a pool table, an attached kitchen and plenty of furniture. It offers all the amenities of home and then some. For those more interested in history and tradition, the entrance of the complex is adorned with trophies, plaques and statues that all preach the Golden Gophers' past success and their drive for future fruition.

The quality of a man's life is in direct proportion to that man's commitment to excellence.

GOPHER GAME DAY

Saturday afternoon Big Ten football games in the heart of the city... one of the best marching bands in the country...screaming fans... cheerleaders and dance teams...intense football action. With the rise of the Golden Gophers to one of the top programs in the Big Ten Conference, Minnesota Football is one of the hottest tickets in town.

The Golden Gophers have played in the Metrodome since 1982. During that 23-year span, more than six million football fans have flooded into the Metrodome to witness Golden Gopher football excitement.

In recent years, Golden Gopher football at the Metrodome has become even more exciting. A multi-million dollar plaza was constructed outside the Dome, complete with food and beverages, picnic tables and a stage for entertainment. Pre-game concerts, interactive games, appearances by the University of Minnesota Marching Band and other entertaining events attract crowds larger than ever. In addition, tailgating festivities take place in adjacent parking lots, just another part that helps define the atmosphere that surrounds big-time college football. One of the long-time staples of Minnesota football is the Golden Gopher Marching Band that boasts a tradition of 114 years. Under the leadership of professor Jerry Luckhardt, the 300-member band electrifies the crowd with pre-game, halftime and post-game entertainment.

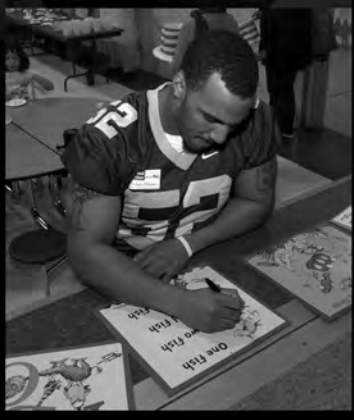
Life Skills



CHAMPS/LIFE SKILLS
PROGRAM HISTORY

In 1991, the NCAA Foundation initiated efforts to create a total development program for student-athletes. Through the collaborative efforts of the NCAA Foundation and the Division I-A Athletic Director's Association, the CHAMPS/Life Skills Program (Challenging Athletes Minds for Personal Success) was created. Today, the NCAA Education Outreach staff oversees the development of the program, offering services, support and programs to participating institutions throughout the year. The CHAMPS/Life Skills Program is supported through the promotional and financial efforts of the NCAA Foundation and the NCAA national office.

UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA
LIFE SKILLS PROGRAM

The Life Skills Program at the University Of Minnesota includes many programs all designed to help make the student-athlete's experience a positive one. The CHAMPS/Life Skills program is an NCAA sponsored program designed to focus on the total development of the student-athlete. Part of the mission of the Athletic Department is to encourage student-athletes to achieve excellence in their academic and athletic pursuits.

In an effort to assist our student-athletes further, the program is designed to give a comprehensive approach to providing educational experiences and services which focus on the individual. We presently utilize: a freshman orientation course, personal development programs, Golden Career Opportunities, various community outreach efforts, and our Student Athlete Advisory Committee (S.A.A.C.) to impact the lives of our young men and women.

Gopher involvement in the CHAMPS/Life Skills Program helps student-athletes enhance the quality of their experience here within the university setting. We are also supplied with instructional materials and supplemental resources which support our student-athletes' development within the CHAMPS/Life Skills Commitment Statements' five key areas: academic excellence, athletic excellence, personal development, career development, and community service. Individually, Gopher running back Amir Pinnix was recognized for his excellence as he was selected to attend the 2006 NCAA Leadership Conference in Orlando, Fla. The conference took place from May 28-June 1 and provided student-athletes from around the country and from different levels to openly discuss issues that may affect them on their campuses and in their communities, while also providing them with the opportunity to enhance their leadership, communication, decision-making and problem-solving skills.

Strength & Conditioning

TRAINING PHILOSOPHY

The overall mission of the Gopher Strength and Conditioning staff is to improve athletic performance and reduce the risk of injury by providing safe effective training programs and facilities.

POWER

All programs including weight training, plyometrics, medicine ball training and ground based triple extension exercises are designed to improve each athlete's overall functional strength and power.

AGILITY

Gopher Strength and Conditioning utilizes several different types of agility and quickness drills to improve an athlete's ability to change direction.

SPEED

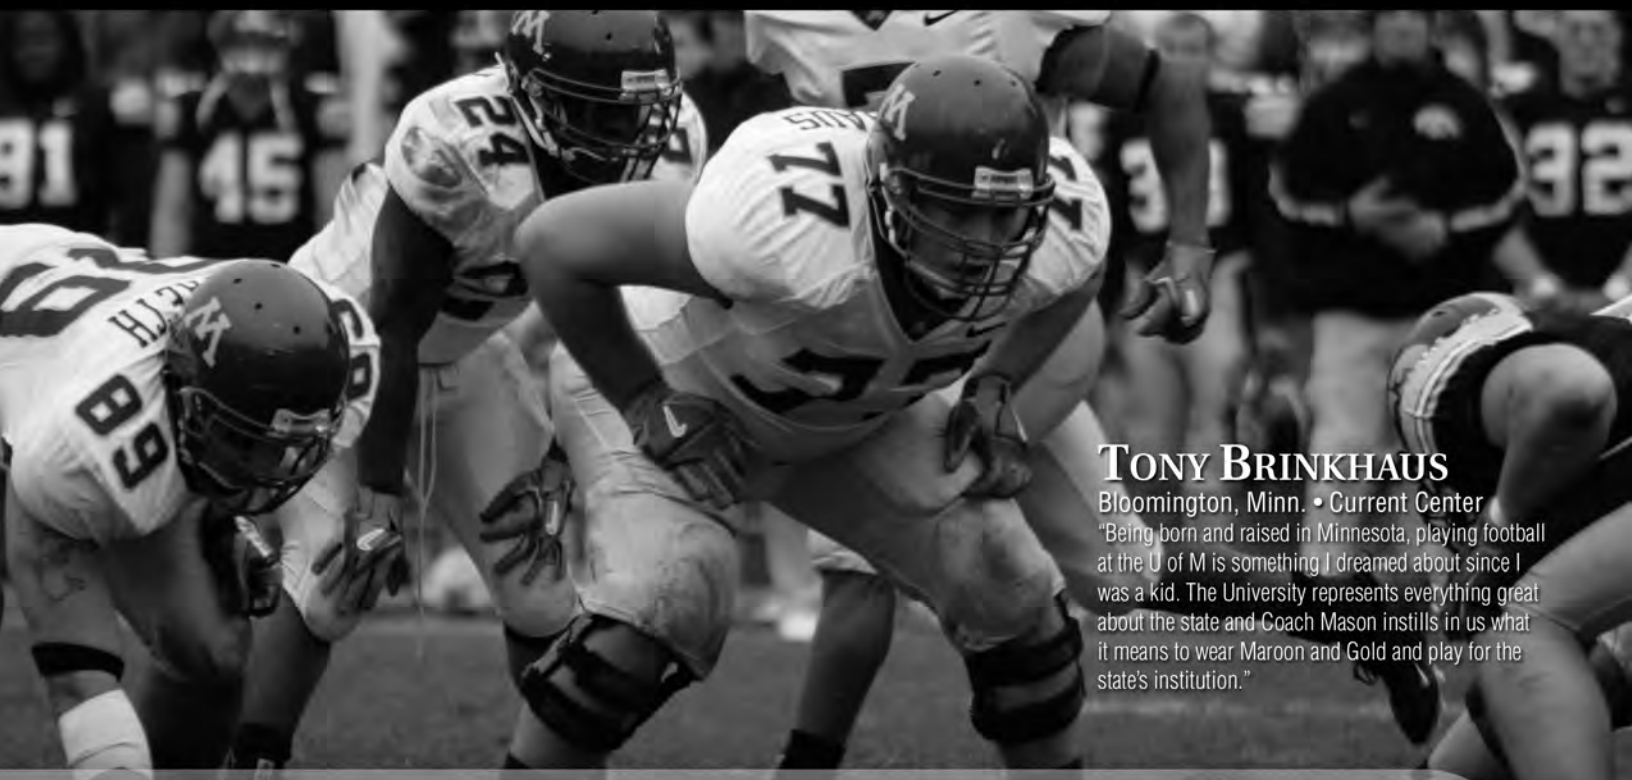
Each athlete's overall speed is increased through teaching proper running mechanics as well as strength training, power development and improving core strength.

FLEXIBILITY

Gopher Strength and Conditioning pays close attention to one of the most overlooked aspects of improving athletic performance. Several types of routines including dynamic, static and hurdle mobility are use to increase flexibility.

NUTRITION

Nutrition plays a major role in the development of athletic performance. Each athlete is provided professional guidance on nutrition as well as dietary supplementation.



Tony Brinkhaus

Bloomington, Minn. • Current Center

"Being born and raised in Minnesota, playing football at the U of M is something I dreamed about since I was a kid. The University represents everything great about the state and Coach Mason instills in us what it means to wear Maroon and Gold and play for the state's institution."

Homegrown In Minnesota

Matt Spaeth

St. Michael, Minn. • Current Tight End

"The best part about playing for Minnesota is my family. I come from a big family and being able to have them come to our games and see me play is really special. It is nice to be able to see them and talk to them following our games and to be able to share my collegiate experience with them."

Ben Utecht

Hastings, Minn. • TE, Indianapolis Colts

"Playing for Minnesota has filled me with the comfort and privilege of playing in front of my family. It is also an honor playing for coaches who encourage you to be successful both in life and in football. Finally, football is all about heart. Your heart is a muscle that inspires and motivates you towards greatness."

The 2006 Golden Gopher roster features 42 homegrown Minnesotans. Since arriving in December of 1996, Head Coach Glen Mason has put a premium on keeping Minnesota kids at home. In his first eight recruiting classes at Minnesota, more than 30 percent of the players who have signed with the Golden Gophers have been from the state. Minnesota student-athletes have been the building block of Golden Gopher Football. From Rochester's Darrell Thompson — the school's all-time leading rusher — to Hutchinson's Cory Sauter — the school's all-time passing leader — the state of Minnesota has produced many great current and former Golden Gophers.

Rian Melander

Shoreview, Minn. • OT, Minnesota Vikings

"Having the opportunity to play at the U and follow in the footsteps of my uncle (Jon Melander) meant a great deal to me and my family. Having a chance to be a part of the great success we had during my career and playing in four bowls is something I will never forget."

Darrell Thompson

Rochester, Minn. • Former NFL running back

"The decision to stay at home, attend Minnesota and play football for the Golden Gophers provided me with a number of opportunities, both academically and athletically. It's a great environment, and I truly enjoyed my college experience. After graduation, the Twin Cities area is a wonderful place to live with lots of job opportunities. That's why so many former Golden Gophers decide to make this their home when their college football days are over."

Thomas Tapeh

St. Paul, Minn. • FB, Philadelphia Eagles

"I chose to stay close to home where my family is and because everything I need is here. Coach Mason and the program have made me a smarter player since arriving at the college level. I have gained a great amount of knowledge athletically that I never knew, and there still is more to learn. The University of Minnesota has broadened my horizons. Courses offer things I never knew I was interested in before. The academics have been great and I've had a fun time learning."

Michael Lehan

Hopkins, Minn. • DB, Miami Dolphins

"Being on the football team has opened doors to volunteer opportunities that I enjoy immensely, proving that there's more to University of Minnesota student-athletes than athletics alone. I was in Coach Mason's first recruiting class and I have no regrets on coming to the University of Minnesota. I enjoyed being a part of the turnaround the coaches and the team made during my career and I look forward to the future of Gopher football."

Matt Anderle

Roseville, Minn. • 2002 NFL Draft Pick, San Diego Chargers

"I came to Minnesota because it had everything I wanted in a school and I knew we could win football games. And we did. I grew up in Minnesota and there is no place I'd rather play for and win for than Minnesota.Why leave when I can do everything I want here and do it in front of the people I love!"

BEN WEST, Appleton, Wis.*
Two-year starter • started 26 games at linebacker

WALK-ON-SUCCESS

"Our walk-on program at the University of Minnesota has turned into a win-win proposition. We have had a number of student-athletes decide to come to Minnesota without the benefit of a scholarship. They have worked hard, received playing time, earned starting positions and even advanced all the way to the National Football League. Our walk-ons have been a very important part of our football program and will continue to be an integral part of our achievement in the future."
– HEAD COACH GLEN MASON

- More than 150 bachelor's degrees, 200 master's degrees and 100 doctoral degrees are offered.
- More than 30 University programs rank among the top 10 nationally. The University's Twin Cities campus consistently ranks among the top three public research universities in the nation.

A world-class university — known globally as a leader in teaching, research and public service, the University of Minnesota, Twin Cities consistently ranks among the top 20 public universities in the nation. More than 150 bachelor's degrees, 200 master's degrees and 100 doctoral degrees make the University one of the most comprehensive institutions in the country. Many of the programs are recognized as national and international leaders.

Also a thriving center for culture and the arts, The "U" features outstanding galleries, museums, concerts, theater productions and public lectures. Add in the excitement of Big Ten Athletics and the University of Minnesota has something for everyone. The University community is a broad mix of ethnic backgrounds, interests and cultures. Students come from all 50 states and more than 100 foreign countries. Many small communities of students, faculty and staff help to create a welcoming feeling on campus.

The campus in Minneapolis is located just a few minutes east of downtown. Nestled along the bluffs of the Mississippi River, buildings in Minneapolis range from the ultramodern Weisman Art Museum to the classic and stately Northrop Memorial Auditorium. A few miles to the east in St. Paul, rolling hills and quiet lawns create a more rural setting. The Minneapolis and St. Paul parts of the campus are connected by a convenient campus shuttle system.

The University of Minnesota also provides a life beyond the campus like few other Big Ten universities can. The dynamic communities of Minneapolis and St. Paul offer something for everyone—a nationally-recognized arts and theater community, a thriving entertainment industry, a host of Fortune 500 companies, four glorious seasons of outdoor recreation, exciting professional sports, shopping and restaurants for every taste, all located close to campus.

Founded in 1851, seven years before the territory of Minnesota became a state, the University is the largest in the state and touches the lives of thousands of people every day through its various programs, organizations and associations.

Campus

One of the most comprehensive and prestigi

Spanning over 2,000 acres filled with vibrant green grass, tall beautiful trees, both historic and modern architecture, the University of Minnesota,Twin Cities is uniquely divided among two thriving cities, Minneapolis and St. Paul. The "U," as it is known to locals, was first chartered in 1851 and recently celebrated its sesquicentennial anniversary in 2001.

The heart of campus runs along the east bank of the Mississippi River in Minneapolis. The East Bank contains unique and historic buildings including Northrop Auditorium, home to musical concerts, theatrical performances, convocations and graduations. The eccentric Frederick R. Weisman Art Museum is located right along the east bank of the Mississippi River. The stainless steel building which was called one of the "five most gorgeous galleries on Earth" by New York Times architecture critic Herbert Muschamp, contains many celebrated art works from around the world. Pillsbury Hall, one of the oldest remaining buildings on campus named after former University Regent John S. Pillsbury, provides students, faculty and visitors with a memory of how the campus first appeared. Coffman Memorial Union, situated adjacent to the Weisman Art Museum, is home to many student organizations and was recently renovated to provide students with top-of-the-line services. Included in the renovation was a dining venue with 10 restaurant options, a game center, computer labs and a campus bookstore.

On the opposite side of the Mississippi River is the University's West Bank campus. Only a few blocks from downtown Minneapolis, the West Bank campus features many modernized buildings, including the Carlson School of Management building and the University's largest library, Wilson Library. Access to the West Bank campus can be obtained by traveling across the Washington Avenue Bridge, a double-decker bridge that accommodates motorists, pedestrians, bicyclists, and in-line skaters. The bridge also contains a sheltered area for the winter months.

The St. Paul campus provides a distinctly different atmosphere. This "small college" environment is only a short bus ride from the Minneapolis campus using the University shuttle. The Agriculture, Biological Sciences and Human Ecology departments all are located on the St. Paul campus. For those who wish to enjoy all the amenities of a large research university, but live in a small town setting, the St. Paul campus delivers.

The University, 154 years old, has seen remarkable improvements and growth. From the first permanent university building, the Old Main built in 1858, to the many current construction projects, the University of Minnesota, Twin Cities campus offers students, faculty and visitors a one-of-a-kind learning environment.

Offensive Tackle
Sr.-5/Sr. • 6-7 • 310

Minnetonka, Minn.
Hopkins High School

One of the Gophers' most experienced returning offensive lineman whose leadership will be invaluable to a revamped offensive line • made the move from left tackle to right tackle during spring practice • returns to the starting lineup after battling injury much of last season • a consistent performer who possesses all of the physical and mental tools to become one of the dominant lineman in the Big Ten • mild-mannered off the field but a fierce competitor once the pads are on • the Gophers' tallest returning player at 6' 7".

CAREER NOTES: Has started 18 of the 31 games in which he has played over the past three seasons.

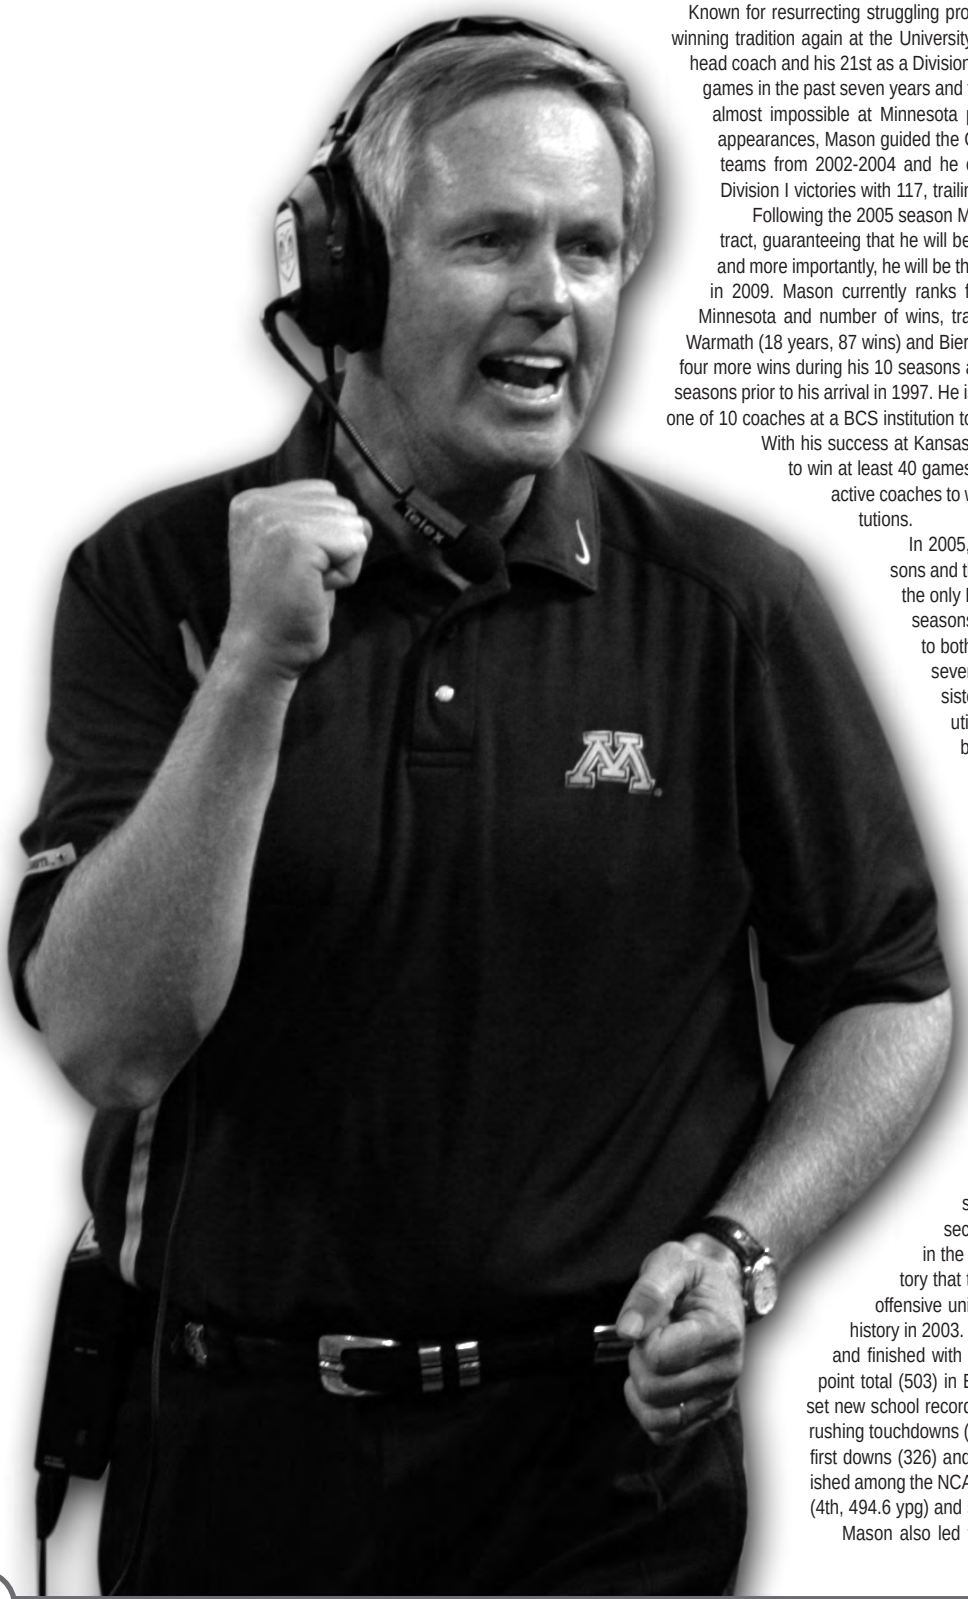
COACHING STAFF

GLEN MASON

Head Coach • 10th season

Led Minnesota to six bowls in seven years



Known for resurrecting struggling programs, Glen Mason has made Golden Gopher football a winning tradition again at the University of Minnesota. Entering his 10th season as Minnesota's head coach and his 21st as a Division I head coach, Mason has guided the Gophers to six bowl games in the past seven years and four consecutive post season appearances - feats thought almost impossible at Minnesota prior to his arrival. In addition to four consecutive bowl appearances, Mason guided the Gophers to three straight bowl wins over BCS Conference teams from 2002-2004 and he currently sits second among Big Ten coaches in career Division I victories with 117, trailing only Joe Paterno of Penn State.

Following the 2005 season Mason was rewarded with a five-year extension on his contract, guaranteeing that he will be coaching at Minnesota through at least the 2011 season and more importantly, he will be the coach when the Gophers new TCF Bank Stadium opens in 2009. Mason currently ranks fourth all-time in Gopher history in number of years at Minnesota and number of wins, trailling only Henry Williams (22 years, 136 wins), Murray Warmath (18 years, 87 wins) and Biernie Bierman (16 years, 93 wins). Mason has accumulated four more wins during his 10 seasons at Minnesota than the Gophers did during the 13 previous seasons prior to his arrival in 1997. He is also one of 18 coaches in NCAA Division I-A football and one of 10 coaches at a BCS institution to be entering at least his 10th season at the same school. With his success at Kansas and Minnesota, Mason is one of only six active coaches to win at least 40 games at two different Division I schools and is one of only four active coaches to win at least two bowl games at two different Division I institutions.

In 2005, Mason led the Gophers to their sixth bowl in seven seasons and the Gophers joined Michigan, Ohio State and Wisconsin as the only Big Ten teams to play in bowl games six of the past seven seasons. The Gophers also became the only school in the nation to both run and pass for at least 2,000 yards in each of the past seven seasons. Mason has built a new level of offensive consistency as the Gophers recorded a school record 31 consecutive games with at least 300 yards of total offense dating back to 2002. Minnesota also joined Boise State as the only teams to finish in the top 35 nationally in total offense each of the past seven seasons. Under Mason, the Gophers have won 32 games over the past four seasons, which is the most wins during a four-year span at Minnesota since 1902-05.

In 2004, Mason led the Gophers to their second 5-0 start in two seasons, which marked the first time since 1940-41 that the Gophers had accomplished that feat. Under Mason, the Gophers continued their great offensive tradition by finishing among the top 30 in the nation in rush offense (5th, 256.8), total offense (15th, 438.3 ypg) and scoring offense (29th, 30.1). The Gophers averaged 6.3 yards per play and 438.3 yards per game in 2004, the second-highest averages in school history.

In 2003, Mason led the Gophers to their first 10-win season since 1905 and their best conference finish since 1999. Under his direction, Minnesota also won its second straight bowl game with a 31-30 victory over Oregon in the Sun Bowl. That victory marked the first time in school history that the Gophers had won back-to-back bowl games. Mason's offensive unit was one of the most prolific in both Big Ten and school history in 2003. The Gophers set a Big Ten record for total offense (6,430) and finished with the fourth-highest rushing total (3,759) and sixth-highest point total (503) in Big Ten history. On top of those marks, the Gophers also set new school records in several other categories including: touchdowns (66), rushing touchdowns (46), yards-per-play (6.6), completion percentage (61.3%), first downs (326) and 500-yard games (7). Minnesota led the Big Ten and finished among the NCAA leaders in rushing offense (3rd, 289.2 ypg), total offense (4th, 494.6 ypg) and scoring offense (7th, 38.7 ppg) in 2003.

Mason also led the Gophers to a 6-0 start in 2003, which was the best opening to a season since 1987. The Gophers recorded seven straight victories under Mason dating back to 2002, which was the longest winning streak at Minnesota since 1961.

In 2002, Mason took the Gophers to new heights as Minnesota opened the season 4-0 for the second time in his tenure at Minnesota. The Gophers' success continued as Minnesota won seven of its first eight games, the school's most successful start since 1961.

Under Mason, the Maroon and Gold ventured into uncharted territory in 2002, earning their third bowl berth in four years, despite having only one senior starter on defense and only one senior who started all 13 games on offense. By earning a bid to the 2002 Gaylord Hotels Music City Bowl, Mason became the first coach in school history to lead the Gophers to three bowl games during his tenure. Mason then directed Minnesota to a bowl win with a convincing 29-14 victory over Arkansas.

The 2001 campaign was a transition season, with all but two new starters on defense and an entirely rebuilt offensive line. The Gophers missed out on a third straight bowl game after suffering three losses by less than a touchdown (Purdue in overtime, Northwestern by six and Ohio State by three).

In 2000, Minnesota jumped out to a 5-2 record by defeating Illinois, Penn State and Ohio State in consecutive weeks. The Gophers' 29-17 victory over the fifth-ranked Buckeyes marked the second straight season that Minnesota upset a top-10 team. Minnesota earned a bid to the Micronpc.com Bowl in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. It was the first time since 1985-86, and only the third time in Minnesota history, that a coach led a Gopher team to back-to-back bowl berths.

In 1999, Mason's team posted an 8-3 regular season record and a fourth-place conference finish at 5-3. They missed an invitation to the Rose Bowl by a mere field goal. The eight victories were the most at Minnesota since 1967 when Murray Warmath led the Maroon and Gold to an 8-2 record and a share of the Big Ten Championship.

The 1999 season was a record year as Mason led the Gophers back into the national spotlight. Minnesota climbed all the way up to No. 12 in the national polls.

Coach Mason and the Gophers were rewarded for their hard work with an invitation to the 66th annual Wells Fargo Sun Bowl - Minnesota's first postseason bowl game in 13 years. For his efforts, Mason was named the National Coach of the Year by Football News and was a finalist for the Football Writers Association Eddie Robinson and Paul "Bear" Bryant National Coach of the Year awards. Mason was the first U of M coach to garner nationwide honors since Murray Warmath did so in 1960 when he led Minnesota to a national title. In addition, Mason was the first Minnesota coach ever to be named the Dave McClain Big Ten Coach of the Year by the conference coaches.

By winning the Dave McClain Big Ten Coach of the Year Award, Mason became only the third coach in NCAA history to win a coach of the year award in three different conferences (Kent State – MAC; Kansas – Big Eight; Minnesota – Big Ten). He joins John Mackovic (Wake Forest – ACC; Illinois – Big Ten; Texas – Southwest) and Denny Stolz (Michigan State – Big Ten; Bowling Green – MAC; San Diego State – WAC) on that elite list.

Mason's immediate impact was clearly evident during his first season at the U of M in 1997. It was the program's finest effort to that point since 1985. The Gophers broke or tied

MASON'S ALL-AMERICANS

Glen Mason's program at Minnesota has produced seven first team All-Americans in his nine years, breaking a 26-year drought. Overall, the seven players have earned 10 All-America certificates. Prior to Mason's arrival, Minnesota's last All-American was in 1971. The streak of four straight years with an All-American ties the run of four straight All-America selections from 1960-63, when Minnesota appeared in two Rose Bowls and won a national title.

MASON & THE NFL DRAFT

In Mason's nine full seasons as head coach, 18 Golden Gophers have been selected in the NFL Draft. Compare that with the five seasons prior to Mason's arrival in Gold Country when only two Minnesota players were drafted. In addition to 14 players being drafted in the last five years, an additional 19 have signed free agent contracts in that span. Twenty of Mason's players are currently on NFL rosters.

a total of 28 school records during the '97 season. In 1999, Minnesota broke or tied 26 individual and team school records, and in 2000, they matched or surpassed 15 school marks.

Mason's impact on the University of Minnesota football program isn't limited to wins and losses. Since taking the controls in 1997, 18 Gophers have been selected in the NFL Draft. Compare that with the five seasons prior to Mason's arrival in Gold Country when only two Minnesota players were drafted. Minnesota had seven draftees between 2001 and 2002, the most in a two-year span since 1990-91. In 2001, Willie Middlebrooks became the first Gopher to be selected in the first round since Darrell Thompson in 1990. Laurence Maroney was chosen with the 21st overall selection by the New England Patriots in 2005, making him the highest Gopher pick since Thompson was the 19th overall selection in 1990 by the Green Bay Packers. In the last five years, 14 Gophers have been drafted while an additional 19 have signed free agent contracts.

Prior to taking over the reins of the Gopher program, Mason spent nine seasons turning around the fortunes of the University of Kansas football program. Named head coach of a struggling Kansas program prior to the 1988 season, Mason proceeded to direct one of the most monumental turnarounds in all of college football. Before his arrival, the Jayhawks had gone winless in 15 consecutive Big Eight games, and had won a total of four games in the previous two seasons. On top of that, Mason had just 50 scholarship student-athletes in camp for his first spring practice.

After going 1-10 in his first season in 1988, 4-7 in 1989 and 3-7-1 in 1990, Mason led the Jayhawks to a 6-5 record in 1991, the school's first winning season since 1981. That earned him Big Eight Coach of the Year honors for the first time in his career.

It only marked the beginning of what was to come for Jayhawk fans. From 1992-95, he guided the Jayhawks to 29 wins, the most in any four-year period at Kansas in the previous 85 years.

In 1992, Mason was named the Kodak Region IV Coach of the Year and was a finalist for National Coach of the Year honors when he led the Jayhawks to an 8-4 overall record, a third-place finish in the conference with a 4-3 mark and a 23-20 victory over Brigham Young in the Aloha Bowl. It was the first bowl appearance for Kansas since 1981 and its first bowl win since 1961. The Jayhawks were ranked No. 22 in the final AP national poll, the first time a KU team ended the season nationally ranked since 1973.

Mason was honored as the 1995 Big Eight Conference Coach of the Year and was a finalist for the Football Writers "Bear" Bryant Coach of the Year Award, when he led Kansas to a second-place tie in the league, a win over UCLA in the Aloha Bowl, and a No. 9 ranking in the final Associated Press poll with a 10-2 overall record. It marked the first time since 1905 that a Kansas team had won 10 games in a season and the first time since 1968 that a Jayhawk squad was ranked in the nation's top 10 in the final Associated Press poll.

Mason is a 34-year coaching veteran who coached more games (102) than anyone in Kansas' school history. Succeeding with programs that had previously suffered through hard times is nothing new for the Colonia, N.J. native. Prior to taking the head job at Kansas, he had two successful seasons at Kent State University. In 1986, he led the Golden Flash to a 5-6 record and a runner-up finish in the Mid-American Conference. In 1987, Kent registered a 7-4 mark, the program's first winning season in more than a decade.

A 1972 graduate of Ohio State with a bachelor's degree in education and a letterwinner on the Buckeyes' 1970 Big Ten championship team, Mason began his coaching career as a graduate assistant at Ball State in 1972. His first full-time position was as the defensive coordinator at Allegheny College in 1973. He returned to Ball State for one season in 1974 as defensive line coach, then worked for two seasons (1975-76) as offensive line coach at Iowa State before coming back to the Big Ten Conference in 1977 as the offensive line coach at Illinois.

In 1978, Mason returned to his alma mater and spent the next eight years under Ohio State head coaches Woody Hayes and Earle Bruce. In each of those seasons, the Buckeyes appeared in eight postseason bowl games – Fiesta Bowl (1980, 1983), Liberty Bowl (1981), Mason, who served as the AFCA President in 2002, presents Penn State head coach Joe Paterno with the AFCA Amos Alonzo Stagg Award at the 2002 AFCA Convention in San Antonio.

Coach Mason and his wife Kate joined former president George Bush during the Paul "Bear" Bryant Coach of the Year Award ceremony in Houston, Texas following the 1999 season. Mason was a finalist for the award in addition to being named the Football News National Coach of the Year and a finalist for the Eddie Robinson National Coach of the Year.

Holiday Bowl (1982), Gator Bowl (1978), Citrus Bowl (1985) and Rose Bowl (1980, 1984). Mason coached outside linebackers and the offensive line before being promoted to offensive coordinator in 1980, where he served until 1986. During his tenure as offensive coordinator in Columbus, the Buckeyes led the Big Ten in scoring offense four times and total offense twice.

Mason-coached teams have had an impressive track record for moving the football and scoring points. The year prior to his arrival at Kansas, the Jayhawks ranked 101st in the country in scoring offense, last in the Big Eight in rushing offense and 101st nationally in total offense. From 1991-96, the Jayhawks averaged more than 27 points per game and set a host of school records. On the other side of the ball, the defense forced 127 turnovers from 1993-96 to rank near the top of the Big Eight/Big 12.

In 1999, Minnesota ranked second in the Big Ten (11th in the nation) in rushing offense with an average of 227.2 yards per game on the ground. Minnesota was third in the Big Ten (24th nationally) in total offense at 410.2 yards per game, and sixth in the Big Ten (20th nationally) in scoring offense with 30.7 points per game.

The results on the other side of the ball were just as impressive, if not more so. The 1999 Gophers ranked fourth in the Big Ten and 22nd in the nation in total defense, allowing just 319.9 yards per game. That was the program's best since 1985. In addition, Minnesota was first in the Big Ten in passing defense (179.4), the best since 1969. They were second in pass defense efficiency (98.4), and second in scoring defense, which both ranked eighth nationally. Those were the best categorical numbers since 1967. In contrast, Minnesota ranked dead last in total defense, pass defense and 10th in scoring defense in the Big Ten the year before Mason arrived.

Mason earned his master's degree in education from Ball State in 1973. In January of 2002, Mason was named the president of the American Football Coaches Association. He was the third Minnesota coach to be awarded this honor joining Bernie Bierman (1935) and Murray Warmath (1968). Mason was elected president by his peers at the 2002 AFCA convention in San Antonio. He had previously served as the first vice president. The board is responsible for formulating policy and providing direction for the more than 10,000-member organization.

Mason and his wife, Kate, a dentist at Veker and Mason in Edina, are very active with a variety of charitable organizations in the Twin Cities area, including the Children's Cancer Research Fund and Catholic Charities. Despite his very busy schedule, Mason has served as the Annual Fundraising Chairman for Catholic Charities and as the Co-Chair of the Red Cross Annual Gala.

In April 2003, the St. Lawrence Catholic Church and Newman Center presented Mason with the Isaac Hecker-Cardinal Newman Award at their first annual awards banquet at the McNamara Alumni Center on the U of M campus. The Isaac Newman-Cardinal Newman Award recognizes the contributions of individuals in living out Catholic values in society.

The Masons have five children — sons, Pat and Brian, and daughters, Chris, Alissa and Mallory.

MASON'S CONSTRUCTION OF A WINNING TRADITION AT MINNESOTA

1997 • 3-9 overall

Mason's first season at Minnesota included wins over Iowa State, Memphis and Indiana and some close calls against some of the nation's top teams. Top-ranked Penn State escaped with a 16-15 win over the Golden Gophers in State College, and the following week, Wisconsin edged the Gophers 22-21. However, it was clear that Mason had instilled a new attitude in the football program. Lamanzer Williams became the first Gopher player since 1971 to be named an All-American after leading the nation in sacks with 18.5.

Mason was introduced as the 24th head coach at the University of Minnesota on Dec. 14, 1996.

1998 • 5-6 overall

During Mason's second year at the helm, Minnesota showed vast improvement, jumping out to a 3-0 record and posting Big Ten wins over Michigan State and Iowa. Mason led Minnesota to its first five-win season since 1990 and was a point away from a potential bowl berth. Indiana nipped Minnesota 20-19 and Michigan escaped with a 20-15 victory against the Gophers. Tyrone Carter became the second Gopher in as many years to be named an All-American after recording 158 tackles.

Mason ended a 17-game skid against Michigan State with a 19-18 win in 1998 at the Metrodome.

1999 • 8-4 overall • Sun Bowl

Mason directed Minnesota to its best record since the 1967 co-Big Ten championship team. The Gophers earned a bid to the Sun Bowl, its first post-season trip since the 1986 Liberty Bowl. The Gophers climbed to No. 12 in the national polls, their highest ranking since the 1962 season. The ranking could have reached even higher as Minnesota was an overtime loss to Wisconsin away from a piece of the Big Ten crown and a trip to the Rose Bowl. The Gophers scored a win over a top-five team for the first time since 1986 with a 24-23 upset of then-second-ranked Penn State in State College, Pa. Two Golden Gophers, Tyrone Carter and Ben Hamilton, earned All-America honors. Carter broke the NCAA career record for tackles by a defensive back with 528 and earned the Jim Thorpe Award as the nation's top defensive back. Thomas Hamner and Billy Cockerham led the nation in rushing yards by teammates.

Mason was named the Dave McClain Big Ten Coach of the Year, the Football News National Coach of the Year and was a finalist for the FWAA Eddie Robinson and the Paul "Bear" Bryant National Coach of the Year awards.

Mason joined Purdue quarterback Drew Brees and CBS' Bryant Gumbel at the 1999 Football News National Player and Coach of the Year ceremonies in Detroit.

Minnesota upset second-ranked Penn State 24-23 in 1999 on a Dan Nystrom field goal as time expired. Mason led the Gophers to their first bowl game in 13 years in 1999.

2000 • 6-6 overall • Micronpc.com Bowl

Mason's Gophers qualified for a second straight bowl game for just the third time in school history and the first time since 1985-1986. After a 6-5 regular season, the Gophers advanced to the Micronpc.com Bowl against North Carolina State. The Gophers highlighted their season by defeating Ohio State 29-17 in Columbus for the first time in 51 years. Center Ben Hamilton and punter Preston Gruening earned All-America honors, giving Mason six All-American honors during his tenure. After several close losses, including a hail-mary touchdown against Northwestern, Minnesota clinched a bowl bid with a 27-24 victory over Iowa in the regular season finale. Mason's troops set or tied 15 school records during the season.

Above: Minnesota secured a second-straight bowl bid in 2000 by defeating Iowa in the regular season finale. Below: The Gophers defeated Ohio State in Columbus for the first time in 51 years.

2001 • 4-7 overall

Minnesota's quest for a school record third straight bowl bid came up short as the Gophers lost several close games during the course of the season. Purdue defeated Minnesota in overtime after kicking a field goal as time expired during regulation. Ohio State edged Minnesota by three points and Northwestern escaped with a six-point win. However, Mason's squad defeated Michigan State and downed Wisconsin in the season finale to claim Paul Bunyan's Axe for the first time since 1994.

2002 • 8-5 overall • Music City Bowl Champions

Mason took the Gophers to new heights as Minnesota opened the season 4-0 for the second time in his tenure at Minnesota and only the fourth time since 1960. The Gophers' success continued as Minnesota won seven of its first eight games, the school's most successful start since 1961. Mason guided the Gophers back to the postseason with a bid to the Music City Bowl in Nashville, Tenn., where they defeated Arkansas 29-14 in dominating fashion to give the program its first bowl win since 1985. The Gophers posted one of the nation's best rushing attacks, running for more than 300 yards in three straight weeks during the season. The eight-win season capped a stretch of 26 victories over the last four seasons, the highest four-year win total at the school since 1940-43.

Mason's 2001 squad ended the year with a 42-31 victory over Wisconsin.

2003 • 10-3 overall • Sun Bowl Champions

The 2003 season marked several major milestones. Mason led the Gophers to their first 10-win season since 1905 and their best conference finish since 1999. He also presided over a team that won its second straight bowl game with a 31-30 victory over Oregon in the Sun Bowl. That victory marked the first time in school history that the Gophers had won back-to-back bowl games. The Gophers reached their fourth bowl game in the past five years and completed the season with a No. 17 ESPN/USA Today national ranking (No. 20 AP).

Mason also led the Gophers to a 6-0 start, which was the best opening to a season since 1987. The Gophers recorded seven straight victories under Mason dating back to 2002, which was the longest winning streak at Minnesota since 1961.

Mason directed an offense that was one of the most prolific in both Big Ten and school history. The Gophers set a Big Ten record for total offense (6,430) and finished with the fourth-highest rushing total (3,759) and sixth-highest point total (503) in Big Ten history. On top of those marks, the Gophers also set new school records in several other categories including: touchdowns (66), rushing touchdowns (46), yards-per-play (6.6), completion percentage (61.3%), first downs (326) and 500-yard games (7). Minnesota led the Big Ten and finished among the NCAA leaders in rushing offense (3rd, 289.2 ypg), total offense (4th, 494.6 ypg) and scoring offense (7th, 38.7 ppg).

On a personal note, Mason earned his 100th career victory with a 36-10 win over Illinois on October 25. He became just the second active coach in the Big Ten to reach 100 career NCAA Division I-A victories.

Mason accepts the 2002 Gaylord Hotels Music City Bowl trophy after defeating Arkansas 29-14.

2004 • 7-5 overall • Music City Bowl Champions

The Gophers reached unchartered territory under Mason in 2004 as they won their third straight bowl game with a 20-16 victory over Alabama. Minnesota became one of only six current schools to win three consecutive bowls against BCS schools.

Mason also extended the Gophers non-conference winning streak (including bowls) to 16, which is currently the best mark in the Big Ten and the longest streak of its kind at Minnesota since 1944-50.

Minnesota continued to post astounding numbers under Mason as the Gophers amassed more than 300 yards per game in a school-record 27 consecutive games heading into 2005. Minnesota also averaged 438.3 yards of total offense and 256.8 yards rushing per game, both of which ranked second all-time in the schools annals.

Mason is interviewed by CBS' Jill Arrington following the Gophers' 31-30 victory over Oregon in the 2003 Sun Bowl.

Mason is interviewed by ESPN's Alex Flanagan following the Gophers' victory over Alabama in the 2004 Music City Bowl. The win marked the third consecutive bowl victory for the Gophers.

At the conclusion of the 2004 season, Minnesota was the only team in the NCAA to have both run and pass for at least 2,000 yards the past six seasons. The Gophers also joined Boise State as the only two teams to rank in the top 35 in total offense the past six years.

Mason was involved in another remarkable feat in 2004. Tailbacks Marion Barber III and Laurence Maroney each surpassed 1,000 yards each for the second consecutive season, which marked the first time two players had accomplished that feat in NCAA history.

For the third straight year, Mason sent his seniors out on a winning note as the senior class registered 29 wins over a four-year span. That total represents the most wins by a senior class since 1934-37.

2005 • 7-5 overall • Music City Bowl

The 2005 season will be remembered as one of Mason's most successful in many ways. Mason and the Gophers ended an 18-year drought against the University of Michigan to capture the Little Brown Jug, watched Greg Eslinger earn the school's first Outland Trophy in more than 40 years and produced two 1,000-yard rushers for the third consecutive season - the first time any school has ever accomplished the feat in the history of college football. In addition, the Gophers reached a postseason bowl game for the fourth consecutive season and sixth time in seven years.

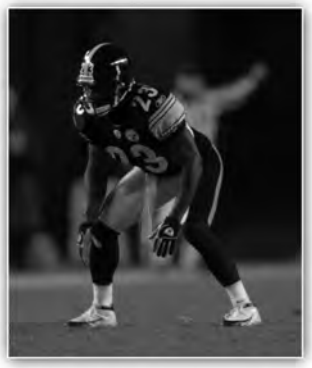
Offensively, the Gophers ranked first in the Big Ten Conference and third nationally in rushing at 273.1 yards per game, the third consecutive season Minnesota finished a season ranked in the top five nationally in rushing. The Gophers also ended the year seventh in the NCAA in total offense, the second top 10 finish in the past three years.

Minnesota improved its streak to seven consecutive seasons of rushing and passing for at least 2,000 yards and its average of 494.8 yards of total offense ranks third-best in Big Ten Conference history. The Gophers also allowed only three quarterback sacks for the year, the fewest in school history and the second consecutive season the Gophers have allowed fewer than 10 sacks.

Four Gophers were selected in the 2006 NFL Draft following the season, the most Gophers selected in one season since 2001. Running back Laurence Maroney became the first Gopher to be selected in the first round since Willie Middlebrooks was taken in the first round of the 2001 NFL Draft.



"Coach Mason has had an amazing impact on me both as a person and as a football player. He is like a father figure for me. He gives it to you straight and teaches you the right way to do things. He has the kind of qualities that you look for in a football coach, but he also cares deeply about his players as people."

Jim Thorpe Award Winner, 1999 • Two-time All-American, 1998-99

"As a native of Minnesota, I have seen first-hand the amazing job that Coach Mason has done with the Golden Gopher Football program. He is an excellent coach and has taught me a lot about football, but more importantly he has taught me about life on and off the field. He turned the program around and made it into a winner. I know the future is very bright for the Golden Gophers."

— BEN HAMILTON, GUARD, DENVER BRONCOS
Two-time All-American, 1999-2000

"Coach Mason and the Minnesota football program made a huge difference for me as a student-athlete. I had a difficult experience at SMU as a freshman and Coach Mason gave me a chance to come to Minnesota, get my college career in order and contribute on the field. He believes in hard work and discipline and is just as interested in your academic success as your success in football. He, and the support staff that Minnesota Football provides, is one of the main reasons that I have my masters' degree and I'm also getting a chance to play professional football."

— JACK BREWER, SAFETY, ARIZONA CARDINALS
First Team All-Big Ten, 2001

"Coming to Minnesota was like a home inside a home. It is a family-based environment that I loved being a part of. I will always be thankful for the opportunity to come here. I was not a highly-recruited player, but Coach Mason and his staff gave me an opportunity. That is something that I will always appreciate and never forget."

— MARION BARBER III, RUNNING BACK, DALLAS COWBOYS
First Team All-Big Ten, 2003

"Coach Mason and Minnesota Football have a long history of recruiting players from Detroit. That was a big influence on my decision to attend Minnesota. It was close enough to home that my family could see me play and provided a great academic opportunity as well. Coach Mason believes strongly in the importance of education and that was a great fit for me and my family. I worked hard and had the support necessary to graduate in three and a half years. That gave me the opportunity to, not only have my degree, but also focus on preparation for my professional career. Not many programs can give you all of that."

— RON JOHNSON, FORMER NFL WIDE RECEIVER
Two-time All-Big Ten, Minnesota's all-time leader in receptions, receiving yards and receiving touchdowns

"I will always remember my four years at the University of Minnesota and what it meant to be a Golden Gopher. Coach Mason believed in me as a player and a person which gave me the confidence I needed to be successful both on the field and in the classroom. The individual acclaim that I received would not have been possible without the support of Coach Mason."

10th Season

MITCH BROWNING

Assistant Head Coach • Offensive Coordinator

Recruiting Areas: Ohio, St. Louis

Mitch Browning is entering his 10th season at Minnesota and his 21st season serving under head coach Glen Mason. Browning has worked under Mason at Kent State, Kansas and Minnesota. Browning took over as the sole offensive coordinator in 2005 after serving as co-offensive coordinator with Tony Petersen since February of 2000.

Under Browning, the Gopher offense has reached new levels of national acclaim and has not only shattered the school record book, but has helped reshape all-time Big Ten records. During Browning's reign, the Gophers' offense has succeeded by finding a way to effectively mix the run with the pass. Minnesota is the only team over the past seven seasons to both rush and pass for over 2,000 yards each year. The Gophers joined Boise State as the only other team to finish in the top 35 nationally in total offense each of the past seven years.

Browning has also been instrumental in the success of the Gophers' nationally-ranked running game. Minnesota has finished in the top 20 nationally in rushing every year since 2001 and has been in the top five in rushing the last three seasons. Last season, the Gophers finished third nationally in rushing at 273.1 yards per game behind the running of Laurence Maroney and Gary Russell and became the first school in the history of college football to have at least two running backs each gain 1,000 yards in a season for three consecutive years. Maroney and Marion Barber III became the first pair of running backs to each rush for at least 1,000 yards in consecutive seasons during the 2003 and 2004 campaigns, leading the Gophers to the third-best rushing attack nationally in 2003 (289.2 ypg) and fifth best in 2004 at 256.8 yards per game. The Gophers also ranked in the top 10 nationally in total offense twice during that time, finishing seventh last season at 494.8 yards per game and fourth in 2003 at 494.6 yards per game.

With Browning leading the way, the Gophers have posted the most prolific offensive numbers in school history the past four seasons, while setting numerous Big Ten records along the way. Since the start of the 2002 season, Minnesota has produced at least 300 yards of total offense in 38 of the team's last 39 games, in addition to posting three of the top 11 most rushing yards in a season in Big Ten Conference history. In 2003, the Gophers rushed for 3,759 yards - third most in conference history - while last season's squad recorded the sixth-highest rushing yards in a season with 3,277. The 2004 Gophers also produced a 3,000-yard season with 3,082 yards rushing to rank 11th all-time in conference history. Each of the past three years, Minnesota has averaged more than six yards per play on offense with the 2003 team averaging 6.6 yards per play, 6.4 yards per play last season and 6.3 yards per play in 2003.

In 2005, Minnesota's offense ranked as the third-best in Big Ten history in total offense, averaging 494.8 yards per game to edge the 2003 team that finished the year at 494.6 yards per game. The Gophers continued to re-write the school record book by establishing the second-highest marks for touchdowns in a season (56), rushing touchdowns (34), yards per play (6.4), total points (429) and first downs (289). The Gophers equaled the school record for the most 500-yard games in a season with seven, including a 578-yard outburst against Ohio State that marked the second-most yards ever allowed by the Buckeyes. The 2005 Gopher offense eclipsed the second-best marks in school history set by the Gopher offense in 2004 when the team averaged 438.3 yards of total offense, 256.8 yards rushing, 6.3 yards per play and 47 touchdowns.

In 2003, Minnesota set a new Big Ten standard for total offense (6,430) and finished with the fourth-highest rushing total (3,759) and sixth-highest point total (503) in Big Ten history. On top of those marks, the Gophers also set new school records in several other categories including: touchdowns (66), rushing touchdowns (46), yards-per-play (6.6), completion percentage (61.3%), first downs (326) and 500-yard games (7). Browning was recognized for his work and the success of the Gophers' offense in 2003 as he was selected as a finalist for the Frank Broyles Award, given annually to the top football assistant coach at the NCAA Division I level.

In 2002, the Gophers' offense reached new heights, tying a school record for touchdowns in a season with 45 and by moving the chains at an alarming rate, recording a single-season school record of 268 first downs. The Gophers also had two players (Terry Jackson II & Thomas Tapeh) each tally at least 900 yards rushing on their way to finishing with the third-highest rushing average in the ground-oriented Big Ten (209.8 ypg). In 2001, the Gophers owned the second-best rushing attack in the Big Ten at 217.2 yards per game. Minnesota averaged a school record 429.1 yards per game in 2000 and posted the second-best passing attack in the Big Ten (232.2 ypg). They also finished second in the conference and 11th in the nation in pass efficiency (140.7). In 1999, the Minnesota offensive unit ranked second in the Big Ten and 11th in the nation in rushing offense (227.2) and third in the Big Ten and 14th in the nation in total offense (410.2).

Along with his coordinator duties, Browning is also responsible for the tight ends and tackles, whom he has worked with since 1999. He had previously served as the tight ends coach/recruiting coordinator in both 1997 and 1998, in which the Gophers signed outstanding recruiting classes both years. A versatile coach, Browning has coached seven different positions during his 27-year coaching career.

Mitch and Jane Grey Browning

Browning coached current Gopher tight end Matt Spaeth to first-team All-Big Ten honors last season and aided Ben Utecht (2000-03) in becoming a two-time All-Big Ten selection. Utecht owns the career record for receptions (83) and receiving yards (1,211) by a tight end and is ranked among the top 15 all-time in school history in those categories. Browning, a Perrysville, Ohio, native, has also made the offensive tackle position one of prominence and stability at Minnesota. Last season the Gophers allowed only three quarterback sacks, the fourth consecutive season the Gophers have allowed the fewest sacks in the conference. Last season, Browning coached promising lineman Tony Brinkhaus to honorable mention All-Big Ten honors during his sophomore year. In 2004, Browning coached Rian Melander to first-team All-Big Ten honors and the team limited the opposition to nine sacks, the fewest allowed by the Gophers since 1970. In 2003, Gopher tackles held the opposition to the fewest sacks (16) in the Big Ten. Former tackles Jake Kuppe and Jeremiah Carter also earned All-Big Ten recognition under Browning.

Browning was also the tight ends coach/recruiting coordinator on Mason's staff at Kansas from 1995-96. Prior to that, he was the Jayhawks' outside linebackers coach from 1991-94 and the school's defensive secondary coach from 1988-90. In addition, he served as the offensive coordinator/quarterbacks/tight ends coach at Kent State from 1985-87 and the wide receivers/quarterbacks coach for the Golden Flashes from 1983-84. In 1982, Browning was a graduate assistant wide receivers coach while Mason was the offensive coordinator at Ohio State when the Buckeyes averaged 425.1 yards per game and went 9-3 overall with a win in the Holiday Bowl.

During his career, Browning has established a reputation for recruiting top talent and has been instrumental in the development of two first-round NFL draft choices on and off the field. Most recently, Browning was responsible for recruiting Laurence Maroney, one of the most exciting running backs to ever wear the Maroon and Gold and the 21st overall pick by the New England Patriots in the 2006 NFL Draft. During his time at Kansas, Browning recruited Dana Stubblefield, an All-American with the Jayhawks who was selected 26th overall by the San Francisco 49ers and spent 12 seasons in the NFL. He was named the 1993 AP NFL Rookie of the Year and the 1997 AP Defensive Player of the Year.

Browning began his collegiate coaching career in 1979 as a graduate assistant at Miami (Ohio). He then became the wide receivers coach as a part-time assistant at North Carolina State in 1980-81 where he coached Mike Quick, who went on to become a first round draft pick of the NFL's Philadelphia Eagles and an eventual five-time NFL All-Pro selection.

Browning is a 1979 graduate of Capital (Ohio) University, where he was a four-year starter at linebacker during his collegiate career and an All-Ohio Athletic Conference selection as a senior. Browning is married to the former Jane Grey Baldwin.

Fifth Season

DAVID LOCKWOOD

Defensive Coordinator • Outside Linebackers

Recruiting Areas: Connecticut, New Jersey (Northern), New York

David Lockwood enters his fifth season on the Gopher coaching staff and his second full season as the team's defensive coordinator. Last year, Lockwood coached inside linebackers in addition to his coordinator role. This year, Lockwood will handle outside linebackers.

Lockwood was named coordinator in February of 2005 after serving in that position for the 2004 Music City Bowl. He could not have had a more successful debut in leading Minnesota to a 20-16 victory over Alabama and the Gophers' third consecutive bowl victory. His squad limited the Crimson Tide, the 21st-ranked rush offense in the nation (200.7 ypg), to a mere 21 yards rushing, the Tide's lowest total of the season. The defense also helped turn the game around when defensive tackle Anthony Montgomery forced a fumble by Alabama quarterback Spencer Pennington and defensive lineman Keith Lipka recovered the ball in the endzone for the first Gophers' score.

In 2005, Lockwood's defense had its share of quality performances, most notably in holding Michigan to its lowest offensive output of the season (249 yards) during the Gophers' 23-20 win in Ann Arbor, Mich. Minnesota also limited Michigan State to three points during the first three quarters during its 41-18 win at the Metrodome. The Spartans entered the game averaging more than 36 points per game and ranked fifth nationally in total offense. Overall, the Gophers improved in a number of Big Ten statistical categories from the 2004 season, including total defense and pass defense.

Lockwood coached five Gophers to All-Big Ten accolades during the 2005 season. Defensive backs Trumaine Banks and John Pawielski, as well as defensive linemen Steve Davis and Keith Lipka each earned honorable mention All-Big Ten recognition. Defensive tackle Anthony Montgomery was chosen second-team All-Big Ten by the coaches. Davis, a true freshman in 2005, was also selected to the College Football News Freshman All-America team.

Lockwood served as the Gophers' defensive secondary coach from 2002 until his move to the coordinator role in 2005. He also served as the recruiting coordinator in 2003, which has been labeled as one of the Gophers' most successful recruiting classes in the Mason era.

In three seasons as the secondary coach, Lockwood placed his stamp on the Gopher defensive backfield. Under his direction the defense improved its interception total from seven in 2002, to 11 in 2003 and 12 in 2004 - the most by a Minnesota defense in a single season since 1998.

In 2003, the Gophers registered 48 pass breakups and had at least three breakups in every game except one. The Gophers also didn't allow their opponents more than 14 passing touchdowns in a season for the second consecutive year (2002-03), which marked the first time a Gopher team had accomplished that feat since 1990-91.

Lockwood opened eyes in 2002 as Minnesota led the Big Ten in pass defense and finished among the top 20 in the nation by limiting the opposition to an average of 178.6 yards passing per game. That total reflected the lowest average against the Gophers since 1996. The Gophers had finished sixth in the Big Ten in pass defense the year before Lockwood's arrival.

Individually, Lockwood has also contributed to the success of several Gopher defensive backs. In addition to earning honorable mention All-Big Ten honors this past season, Banks is currently fourth all-time in school history for pass breakups with 29. In 2004, Ukee Dozier tied the school record for career pass breakups and became the first Gopher cornerback since Willie Middlebrooks in 2000 to be named first-team All-Big Ten. Safety Eli Ward was named honorable mention All-Big Ten in consecutive seasons (2002-03). Ward led the Gophers in tackles in 2002 and 2003, posting 96 tackles in 2003 after a career-high 116 stops the previous year. Lockwood was also instrumental in the development of cornerback Michael Lehan, who was honorable mention All-Big Ten in 2002. Lehan set the school record for pass breakups in 2002 and was selected by the Cleveland Browns in the fifth round of the 2003 NFL Draft.

The Lockwood Family

The Media, Pa., native has built a strong resume in his 17 years of collegiate coaching. Lockwood came to Minnesota from Notre Dame where he spent the 2001 season as the cornerbacks coach for the Fighting Irish. Lockwood was part of a major resurgence in the secondary at Notre Dame in 2001 as the Irish finished 10th in the nation in pass defense. It was only the third time in the past 54 years that the Irish were ranked in the top 10 nationally in pass defense.

Before his coaching tenure at Notre Dame, Lockwood, a 1989 West Virginia University graduate, returned to his alma mater in 2000 as the defensive backs coach under legendary coach Don Nehlen. In his only season with the Mountaineers, Lockwood's secondary finished ninth in the nation in interceptions with 19 and capped off a 7-5 season by defeating Mississippi in the Music City Bowl.

Prior to his arrival at West Virginia, Lockwood joined the University of Wyoming as defensive secondary coach in December of 1999 before returning to his alma mater in March of 2000.

Lockwood spent five years at the University of Memphis from 1995-99, coaching wide receivers his first four seasons and the secondary in his final year. Among the defensive backs he coached at Memphis were Reginald Howard, a member of the Carolina Panthers, cornerback Mike McKenzie of the New Orleans Saints, Michael Stone of the Houston Texans and Idrees Bashir of the Detroit Lions.

In 1994, Lockwood coached the James Madison receivers and tight ends, helping the Dukes reach the NCAA Division I-AA quarterfinals.

Lockwood began his full-time coaching career at the University of Delaware where he was the wide receivers and tight ends coach from 1990-93. The Blue Hens won two Yankee Conference titles and advanced to the NCAA I-AA playoffs in 1991, 1992 and 1993 during his tenure.

A four-year letterman and three-year starter from 1985-88 for the Mountaineers at defensive back, Lockwood played in two bowl games, the 1987 Sun Bowl and the 1989 Fiesta Bowl. He recorded 58 career tackles with two interceptions for WVU. He was a member of the 1988 team that posted the first unbeaten regular season in West Virginia history at 11-0 and played Notre Dame for the national championship.

Lockwood earned a bachelor's degree in physical education from West Virginia in 1989. He and his wife, Heidi, have three children, Autumn, David Jr. and Jeffrey.

10th Season

VIC ADAMLE

Running Backs

Recruiting Areas: Dallas/Fort Worth, Iowa, Minnesota

Vic Adamle, a member of Glen Mason's staff at both Kent State and Kansas, is in his 10th season at the University of Minnesota and his eighth season as the Gophers' running backs coach after handling the wide receivers his first two seasons at Minnesota. Adamle will enter his 21st season working under Mason.

Adamle has presided over the Gophers' running tradition and each season his group has reached an even higher plateau. Since he took over as running backs coach in 1999, Adamle's unit has totaled at least 2,300 yards each season and has reached unchartered territory the past three seasons, surpassing 3,000 yards in 2003, 2004 and 2005 - a feat unmatched in Big Ten Conference history.

Last season Adamle worked with Laurence Maroney and Gary Russell, providing the Gophers with two 1,000-yard rushers for the third consecutive season - a feat never accomplished before in NCAA history. Maroney finished the year with 1,464 yards rushing and 10 touchdowns to rank first in the Big Ten at 133.1 yards per game. Russell ranked sixth in the conference in rushing and finished the year with 1,130 yards on the ground and a school-record 18 rushing touchdowns, surpassing Marion Barber III's 17 rushing touchdowns set during the 2003 season under Adamle's guidance. The Gophers led the conference in rushing for the third consecutive season, averaging 273.1 yards per game in 2005 which also ranked third nationally and was the seventh highest average in Big Ten history. Minnesota has ranked in the top five in the the NCAA in rushing each of the past three seasons.

During the 2005 season, Minnesota also became the first school in conference history to have three different running backs earn Big Ten Player of the Week honors. Maroney earned the award following his 217 yards rushing and 333 all-purpose yards against Purdue on Sept. 24. Russell earned Player of the Week honors on Nov. 7 following his performance against Indiana when he rushed for 188 yards on 28 carries and three touchdowns. Amir Pinnix was the third Gopher to capture the honor when he filled in for an injured Maroney and Russell and rushed for 206 yards and a touchdown on 32 carries against Michigan State on Nov. 12.

In 2004, Barber III and Maroney became the most dynamic running back duo in NCAA history. Maroney rushed for 1,348 yards with 12 touchdowns, while Barber tallied 1,269 yards with 11 scores. With those rushing totals, Barber and Maroney became the first duo in NCAA history to each rush for 1,000 yards in consecutive seasons. The Gophers also led the Big Ten in rushing (256.8 ypg) and finished fifth in the nation.

In 2003, the Minnesota ground game was electrifying, averaging 289.2 yards per game on the ground, the fourth-highest total in Big Ten history and the third-best average in the nation. The Gophers also rushed for at least 200 yards in 11 of 13 games, which broke the previous record of six games, and tallied 421 yards rushing against Michigan, the most rushing yards ever allowed by the Wolverines. The Gophers led the NCAA in rushing touchdowns with 46, which represents the third-highest total in Big Ten history. Barber and Maroney each ran for at least 1,000 yards in 2003. Barber was named an All-American by the College Football News and was a first-team All-Big Ten performer. Maroney led all freshman running backs in yardage and was named the Big Ten Freshman of the Year by Big Ten coaches and media, The Sporting News, College Football News and ESPN.com.

The Adamle Family

The 2002 season was also a banner year for Adamle as the Gophers' rushing game established several records and was a dominant force in the Big Ten despite losing Barber early in the season to injury. Minnesota finished third in the conference and was among the top-20 rushing offenses in the nation, averaging 209.8 yards per game. The Gophers joined West Virginia as the only two teams in the country to have two running backs (Terry Jackson II, Thomas Tapeh) reach 900 yards rushing in 2002. Minnesota also joined Iowa as the only two teams in the Big Ten to have two backs with at least four 100-yard rushing games. As a team, the Gophers cleared 400 yards rushing once, 300 yards rushing three times and 200 yards on the ground on seven occasions in 2002.

Adamle also helped contribute to the emergence of Jackson in 2002. Jackson exploded onto the scene with 1,317 yards rushing, the fifth-highest single-season total in school history. He also recorded back-to-back 200-yard rushing performances against Northwestern (239 yards) and Michigan State (238 yards), which were the fifth and sixth-best rushing marks in Gopher history.

In 2001, Adamle coached Barber to Freshman All-America honors after he totaled 742 yards with seven touchdowns. In 2000 and 2001, he coached Tellis Redmon to back-to-back 1,000-yard seasons on the ground, making him the first Gopher since Chris Darkins to accomplish the feat. In 2000, Redmon ran for 1,368 yards and All-Big Ten honors. Redmon's 246-yard rushing performance in the Micronpc.com Bowl set a new bowl record and is one of the top individual performances in school history.

Adamle made an immediate impact in 1999 as the Gophers set the school record for rushing yards in a season (2,726) in his first year with that unit. Adamle helped guide Thomas Hamner to first-team All-Big Ten honors in 1999 as Hamner rushed for 1,426 yards. That was also the second-highest single-season rushing mark in school history.

In 1998, Adamle coached honorable mention All-Big Ten wide receiver Luke Leverson and Ron Johnson, who set a pair of freshman single-season school records en route to being honored on The Sporting News Freshman All-America Second Team. In 1997, Adamle worked with Tutu Atwell, who broke virtually all of the school's career receiving records.

Before his arrival at Minnesota, Adamle had been the wide receivers coach at Kansas in 1995-96 after serving as the school's running backs coach from 1988-94. At Kent State, he was the running backs coach in 1986-87 and the wide receivers coach in 1985, after having worked as a graduate assistant coach in 1984.

Adamle has coached the all-time leading rushers at two different schools — June Henley at Kansas and Eric Wilkerson at Kent State. In addition, Kansas running back Tony Sands, who ranked second on the school's career rushing list behind Henley, broke the all-time NCAA single-game rushing record with 396 yards against Missouri in 1991.

A 1983 graduate of Eastern Michigan, Adamle was a two-year starter and three-year letterwinner ('80, '81, '82) as a fullback during his collegiate career for the Eagles. He is the brother of former Northwestern star and television commentator Mike Adamle. Second Season

CAREY BAILEY

Defensive Line

Recruiting Areas: Detroit, Cincinnati

Carey Bailey is entering his second season with the Golden Gopher football staff and his 14th overall in the profession. Bailey will serve as the defensive line coach for the Gophers for the second consecutive season after coming to Minnesota from Oklahoma State in 2004 where he held the same position.

Bailey, who has been a part of eight bowl games as a player and a coach, has earned a reputation as a proven recruiter and an intense, hard-working coach. In 2005, Baily coached three of the Gophers four defensive linemen to Big Ten accolades. Defensive ends Steve Davis and Keith Lipka each earned honorable mention All-Big Ten recognition, while defensive tackle Anthony Montgomery was a second-team All-Big Ten selection. Montgomery was drafted in the fifth round of the 2006 NFL Draft by the Washington Redskins. Davis tied for the team lead with nine tackles-for-loss and led the team with six quarterback sacks during his true freshman year and was named a First-Team Freshman All-American by College Football News.

Before his arrival at Oklahoma State, Bailey was on the coaching staff at Middle Tennessee State, where he spent just one season, but helped take the Blue Raider defensive line from last in the league in sacks to near the top. In addition to coaching the defensive tackles at Middle Tennessee State, Bailey also recruited in Mississippi, Tennessee and Alabama.

Prior to his coaching stint at Middle Tennessee State, Bailey served five years as an assistant at Louisiana-Lafayette from 1998-2002. Before he joined the UL-Lafayette staff, Bailey was the defensive line coach at Virginia Military Institute from 1995-97.

Bailey, a Morgantown, W.V., native, began his coaching career on the staff at West Virginia working with the defensive secondary when the Mountaineers won the Big East Conference title in 1993 and led the Big East in interceptions in 1994.

The Bailey Family

Bailey played collegiately at the University of Tennessee and was part of two Southeastern Conference championship teams. He was a four-year letterman from 1988-91 and led the team in tackle-for-loss and in quarterback sacks during his junior season. As a senior he was part of a Tennessee team that led the SEC in total defense.

He finished his collegiate career with 96 total tackles and 7.5 quarterback sacks and participated in four bowl games including the 1988 Peach Bowl, 1990 Cotton Bowl, 1991 Sugar Bowl and 1992 Fiesta Bowl.

Throughout his professional career, Bailey has coached some of the best players in the game, including six players who earned first team all-conference honors under his tutelage. He was on the West Virginia staff that led the Mountaineers to the 1994 Sugar Bowl and the 1995 Carquest Bowl.

Bailey earned a bachelor of arts degree in sociology from Tennessee in 1992.

He and his wife, Angela, have one daughter, Evann Leigh.

First Season

CRAIG BRAY

Defensive Secondary

Recruiting Areas: Houston, Kansas, California Junior Colleges

Craig Bray is entering his first season with the Golden Gopher football staff and his 32nd overall in the profession. Bray will serve as the defensive secondary coach for the Gophers after most recently holding the same position at the University of Colorado for the past two seasons.

Throughout his career, Bray has coached in seven bowl games, including two New Years Day bowl games and 10 Division I-AA playoff games during stints with the Idaho Vandals and Nevada Wolfpack. Bray was a member of the Oregon State staff during the 2000 season that defeated Notre Dame 41-9 in the 2001 Fiesta Bowl and was a member of the Washington State staff that earned a Rose Bowl bid during the 1997 season.

During his time at Colorado, Bray and the Buffaloes reached consecutive Big 12 Conference Championship games, in addition to the 2004 EV1.net Houston Bowl and the 2005 Champs Sports Bowl in Orlando, Fla. Before his time in Boulder, Colo., Bray spent one season at Arizona in 2003 where he coached linebackers.

Prior to his one season in Tucson, Ariz., Bray was the defensive coordinator and secondary coach at Oregon State from 2000-02. His 2000 defense at OSU ranked as the best in both total and scoring defense in the Pac 10, while ranking 20th and 16th, respectively, in the NCAA. The unit allowed 314 yards per game and set a school record for fewest rushing yards per game at just over 80 yards per outing. In 2001, Bray coached the Beaver defense to a No. 3 ranking in the conference before taking the 2002 unit to a No. 9 ranking nationally in rushing defense and a No. 11 ranking in total defense.

Bray spent the second of two stints at Washington State from 1994-99, where he worked under Mike Price and helped coach the Cougars to the 1994 Alamo Bowl and the 1998 Rose Bowl. Bray first coached at Washington State from 1987-88 under Dennis Erickson and helped lead the Cougars to the 1988 Aloha Bowl where they defeated Houston. Bray first joined Erickson as the defensive backs coach in 1984 at the University of Idaho, where Erickson remained for two seasons before becoming the head coach at the University of Wyoming in 1986. After serving as the Cowboys' secondary coach for one season, Bray moved to Washington State with Erickson in 1987.

The Bray Family

Following the 1988 season, Bray moved with Erickson to the University of Miami (Fla.) to serve as the Hurricanes' secondary coach. Following the spring season, Bray returned to the Pacific Northwest to become defensive coordinator and secondary coach at Idaho under John L. Smith. Bray's defense at Idaho quickly became one of the best in the Big Sky Conference, recording a conference-best 29 interceptions in 1990 before leading the league and ranking seventh nationally in total defense during the 1992 season.

Bray got his first coaching job at the University of Nevada-Las Vegas following his graduation in 1975. He spent one season coaching the Rebels' wide receivers before moving to Nevada-Reno in 1976 where he coached wide receivers for one year. Bray coached running backs at Nevada-Reno for one year in 1977 before moving to defense in 1978, a place he has remained ever since. He coached the Wolfpack's secondary for two years in 1978-79 before spending four more seasons from 1980-83 coaching the secondary at Northern Arizona.

A two-year starter at wide receiver for UNLV, Bray received a degree in education. Bray began his collegiate playing career at the College of Siskiyous where he played two seasons between 1970-72 before transferring to UNLV where he was a two-year starter during the 1973 and 1974 seasons. A native of Yreka, Calif., Bray graduated from Yreka High School where he lettered in football, basketball and track.

Bray is married to the former Kaprice Rupp, a former head volleyball coach at Washington State. The couple has two sons, Josh and Trent. Josh recently graduated from Oregon State and Trent was a senior linebacker on the OSU football team this past season.

MARK CRINER

Linebackers

Recruiting Areas: Florida (Eastern)

Mark Criner is beginning his first season with the Golden Gopher football program where he will coach the linebackers. A 15-year veteran, Criner has spent his entire career coaching defense, most recently as the defensive coordinator and secondary coach at Middle Tennessee State.

Criner spent two seasons at MTSU, initially as the team's secondary coach during the 2004 season. He was promoted to defensive coordinator prior to the 2005 season and coached the Blue Raider defense to a No. 17 national ranking in scoring defense and a No. 28 national ranking in total defense. His unit ranked first in the Sun Belt Conference in scoring defense, rushing defense, red zone defense and pass efficiency defense. Criner improved the Blue Raiders' national pass efficiency rating from 112th in 2004 to 32nd during the 2005 campaign.

Prior to Middle Tennessee State, Criner coached two years at the University of Cincinnati where he coached the linebackers both seasons and was the co-defensive coordinator during the 2003 campaign. During his two seasons at Cincinnati, Criner coached defenses that ranked in the top 30 nationally in several categories, including total defense, pass efficiency defense, total pass defense, passes intercepted and turnovers gained.

Criner began his coaching career in 1992 as the outside linebackers coach at Utah State where he spent two seasons. He then moved on to Portland State where he was the secondary coach for the Vikings from 1993-97 and the defensive coordinator from 1997-99.

Raised in a football family, Criner left Portland State following the 1999 season to become the defensive coordinator for the Las Vegas Outlaws for one season under his father, Jim Criner. Under his father's guidance, Mark's defense ranked first in the league in scoring defense and No. 1 in total defense. The elder Criner's resume includes a NCAA Division I-AA National Championship while serving as the head coach at Boise State, four seasons as Iowa State's head coach and two trips to the NFL Europe Championship game and one league title in 1996.

The Criner Family

A graduate of Ames High School in Ames, Iowa, Criner played one season at Iowa State in 1986 before transferring to Boise State where he lettered for the Broncos for three seasons until his graduation following the 1990 season. Criner was part of two NCAA Division I-AA playoff teams at BSU, including the 1990 team that reached the I-AA semifinals.

Criner and his wife, Angie, have four children – daughter Madison (11), son Calin (8) and twins Jackson and Brooklyn (2).

Eighth Season

TONY PETERSEN

Passing Game Coordinator • Quarterbacks

Recruiting Areas: Chicago

Tony Petersen is entering his eighth season on the Minnesota coaching staff and his second season as passing game coordinator. Petersen served as co-offensive coordinator for five seasons as the Gophers rewrote the school record book, took the nation by storm and established their brand of offense as one of the best in the NCAA. Petersen, who entered the coaching profession in 1990, also serves as quarterbacks coach.

Petersen has brought a perfect blend to the offense as witnessed by the fact that Minnesota is the only team over the past seven seasons to both rush and pass for over 2,000 yards each year. The Gophers have also finished among the top 35 in total offense in the nation the past seven seasons, joining Boise State as the only other school to accomplish the feat. The Gophers have produced at least 300 yards of total offense in 38 of the team's past 39 games, in addition to posting three of the top 11 most rushing yards in a season in Big Ten Conference history.

Under Petersen's leadership in 2005, junior quarterback Bryan Cupito produced one of the best individual seasons in school history, ranking third for single-season passing yards (2,530), ninth in passing attempts (297), eighth in completions and second in touchdown passes (19). Cupito's pass efficiency rating of 145.87 last season ranked as the second-best pass efficiency rating for a single season in school history and ranked fifth in the Big Ten and 21st nationally. Through Petersen's guidance, Cupito's numbers dramatically improved from the 2004 season to the 2005 season. Cupito increased his completions by 53, while increasing his attempts by only 36. Cupito threw for 433 more yards in 2005 and increased his completion percentage by more than 12 percent.

Petersen has a history of developing quarterbacks at Minnesota. He played a key role in the development of quarterback Asad Abdul-Khaliq (2000-03), who rewrote the school record book at Minnesota during his four seasons. Under Petersen, Abdul-Khaliq became the school's all-time total offense leader with 7,818 yards and also set school records for career touchdown passes (55) and season completion percentage (63%, 2003). He ranks second all-time in career passing yards (6,660) and career completions (481), and in 2003, he led the Big Ten and finished fifth in the nation in pass efficiency (162.3).

Khaliq helped engineer one of the most prolific offensive seasons in Big Ten history in 2003. Minnesota set a Big Ten record for total offense (6,430) and finished with the fourth-highest rushing total (3,759) and sixth-highest point total (503) in Big Ten history. On top of those marks, the Gophers also set new school records in several other categories including: touchdowns (66), rushing touchdowns (46), yards-per-play (6.6), completion percentage (61.3%), first downs (326) and 500-yard games (7). Minnesota led the Big Ten and finished among the NCAA leaders in rushing offense (3rd, 289.2 ypg), total offense (4th, 494.6 ypg) and scoring offense (7th, 38.7 ppg) last season.

In 2000, Petersen helped Travis Cole become one of the nation's most efficient quarterbacks as he posted a rating of 137.6, which ranked 16th in the nation. Prior to Petersen's arrival in 1999, the Gophers hadn't posted consecutive seasons with at least 16 touchdown passes in their history. Since that time, Petersen's quarterbacks have thrown for at least 16 touchdowns in six straight seasons, including 20 in 2000 and 21 in 2002.

Petersen was also instrumental in the success of Minnesota quarterback Billy Cockerham in 1999. Under Petersen's guidance, Cockerham broke school records for rushing yards by a quarterback (831) and rushing touchdowns by a QB (10).

A 1988 graduate of Marshall University, where he charted a record-setting career of his own at quarterback for the Thundering Herd, Petersen came to the U of M after eight successful seasons (1991-98) in several different capacities as an assistant coach at his alma mater. During Petersen's eight-year tenure at Marshall, the Thundering Herd made eight straight postseason appearances. In his final season at Marshall, Petersen served as the offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach as the Thundering Herd captured their second straight Mid-American Conference title and defeated Louisville in the 1998 Motor City Bowl.

The Petersen Family

Petersen was Marshall's quarterbacks coach for five seasons (1993-95, 1997-98) and his signal-callers collected first-team all-league honors four times. Headlining that list was Marshall quarterback Chad Pennington, who earned first-team All-MAC honors in both 1997 and 1998 and was a finalist in 1998 for the Davey O'Brien Award, which annually honors the nation's top quarterback. Pennington broke the NCAA record for touchdown passes by a sophomore with 39 and set a Mid-American Conference record with 3,480 yards passing. Petersen also coached Pennington to Southern Conference Freshman of the Year honors in 1995.

Petersen also coached quarterback Todd Donnan to first-team All-Southern Conference honors in both 1993 and 1994. Donnan was named Southern Conference Offensive Player of the Year in 1994. In 1992, Petersen handled Marshall's receivers, where he worked with Troy Brown, an all-pro wideout for the NFL's New England Patriots. Petersen, who began his coaching career as a graduate assistant at Kentucky in 1990, coached Marshall's running backs in 1991.

As a player at Marshall, Petersen was named the 1988 Southern Conference Athlete of the Year and the Southern Conference Offensive Player of the Year in 1987. A free agent signee of the Minnesota Vikings in 1989, Petersen set 16 Southern Conference single-season and career records in passing and total offense, to go along with six Marshall single-season school marks. Including a record 35 touchdown passes in 1987. He also set NCAA records for most passes in a game without an interception (68) and for most regular season games (11) with more than 200 yards passing.

Petersen went to Marshall after a stellar career at Delta Community College in Stockton, Calif. He was drafted by the Kansas City Royals after his first season at Delta C.C. Petersen also played three seasons for the Thundering Herd baseball program.

A native of Lodi, Calif., Petersen earned his master's degree in athlete administration from Marshall in 1995. His grandfather, Ike Petersen, played for the NFL's Detroit Lions. Tony and his wife, Beth, have three children - Andy (11), Nikki Nelson (9) and Taylor (3).

14th Season

GORDON SHAW

Guards and Centers

Recruiting Areas: Minnesota (in-state coordinator), North Dakota, South Dakota, Wisconsin

Gordon Shaw enters his 14th year at Minnesota and his sixth straight year directing the guards and centers. Shaw returned to the offensive side of the ball for the Gophers in 2001 after coaching the defensive line the previous four seasons. Shaw had coached the offensive line from 1993-96.

Shaw developed two of the top interior linemen in the nation over the past four years with center Greg Eslinger and left guard Mark Setterstrom. Eslinger was awarded the 2005 Outland Trophy as the nation's top interior lineman, in addition to earning the Dave Rimington Trophy as the nation's top center. Eslinger finished his career at Minnesota as the first three-time consensus All-Big Ten selection in school history and was named a first-team All-American by six different organizations. Setterstrom ended his career as a two-time first-team All-Big Ten selection and was named an Associated Press second-team All-American in 2005.

Behind Eslinger and Setterstrom, Shaw's interior line has helped pave the way for one of the most prolific offenses in Big Ten history the past four seasons. The Gophers rushing attack has ranked first in the Big Ten each of the past three years and among the top five nationally during that time. The Gophers have also allowed only 46 quarterback sacks the past four seasons, the fewest in the Big Ten during that time by 21 sacks.

With a trio of seniors holding the interior line, the 2005 Gophers finished the year with the third best rushing attack in college football at 273.1 yards per game and the seventh-highest total offense at 494.8 yards per game. Eslinger, Setterstrom and right guard Mike Nicholson anchored a line that produced a pair of 1,000-yard rushers in Laurence Maroney and Gary Russell, making Minnesota the first school in NCAA history to have two 1,000-yard rushers for three consecutive seasons.

In 2004, Shaw's linemen helped pave the way for tailbacks Marion Barber III and Laurence Maroney to each rush for 1,000 yards in consecutive seasons (2003-04), making Minnesota the first school in NCAA history to have the same two running backs each rush for at least 1,000 yards in back-to-back seasons. On the other side of the coin, Shaw's unit also limited the opposition to a mere nine sacks, the lowest total against Minnesota since 1970.

Shaw coached one of the top interior lines in Gopher history in 2003. Eslinger was named a third-team Associated Press All-American as a sophomore, becoming the first Gopher to earn All-America status since 2000. Guards Joe Quinn and Setterstrom were also recognized for their efforts as Quinn was a second-team All-Big Ten selection while Setterstrom was named honorable mention.

The Shaw Family

Shaw's linemen helped pave the way for the Gophers in 2003 as they set the Big Ten record for total offense (6,430) and finished with the fourth-highest rushing total (3,759) and sixth-highest point total (503) in Big Ten history. The Gophers also set several other school records and became only the third team in Big Ten history to have two 1,000-yard running backs in the same season in large part because of Shaw's positional unit. The Gophers' protected the quarterback as well as they blocked for their tailbacks, leading the Big Ten in fewest sacks allowed with 1.2 per game.

In 2003, Shaw was honored by receiving the Distinguished Service Award from the Minnesota High School Football Coaches Association for his contribution to Minnesota football on and off the field. In 2002, Shaw helped transform Eslinger and Setterstrom, two true freshman, into the Maroon and Gold's stars of the future, as each started all 13 games and were both named to The Sporting News Freshman All-Big Ten Team. Shaw's interior lineman also set the tone for running backs Terry Jackson II (1,317 yards) and Thomas Tapeh (906 yards), while finishing second in the Big Ten in sacks allowed per game (1.3). In 2001, center Derek Burns earned honorable-mention recognition under Shaw and helped the Gophers finish second in the Big Ten and 14th in the nation in rushing (217.2).

While working with the Gopher defense in 2000, Shaw took part in assembling one of the Big Ten's most athletic and skilled lines in the nation. His defensive line included All-Big Ten performers Karon Riley, Greg White and John Schlecht. Riley led the Big Ten in sacks twice and was drafted by the Chicago Bears. Schlecht was transformed from a walk-on in 1997 to a two-time All-Big Ten pick and the all-time school leader in tackles-for-loss. Schlecht would go on to play for the San Francisco 49ers and New Orleans Saints.

Shaw's defensive line racked up 25 of the team's 32 sacks in 2000 and ranked fourth in the Big Ten in pass defense. With Shaw's linemen up front playing a major role, the Gopher defense rose to fourth in the Big Ten and 22nd in the nation in 1999, giving up 319.9 yards per game. Minnesota also ranked first in the Big Ten in pass defense and second in scoring defense and pass efficiency defense, which were the highest rankings in those areas since 1967. Shaw was recognized for the team's success as he was named the Nike Assistant Coach of the Year in 1999.

In 1998, the Gophers ranked fourth in the Big Ten and 13th in the nation in rushing defense by allowing just 103.7 yards per game on the ground. That was the program's best since 1962. After setting a new single-season school record 41 sacks in 1997, the Gophers provided the appropriate encore with 44 sacks in 1999, setting a new school record.

Prior to working with the Gopher defensive line, Shaw had served as offensive line coach at the U of M from 1993-96. The Gophers had one of the most productive offenses in the Big Ten during that time and a large amount of the credit goes to Shaw and his work with the offensive line.

In 1994, Shaw's movers up front helped pave the way for All-Big Ten running back Chris Darkins' successful assault on the Gophers' single-season rushing record.

Shaw came to the U of M from Wyoming, where he served as the offensive line coach from 1990-92. In 1990, the Cowboys compiled a 9-4 overall record and played in the Copper Bowl.

In 1989, Shaw was the defensive coordinator at Idaho when the Vandals went 9-2 and won the conference championship. His coaching career began in 1977 as a graduate assistant at Cal Poly-San Luis Obispo. After two seasons at Cal Poly, Shaw became the defensive line coach at Cal State-Northridge in 1979 before returning to his alma mater, Cal Poly-San Luis Obispo, as the defensive line coach in 1980-81. Cal Poly won the NCAA Division II national title in 1980. From there, he went to Northern Arizona University where he spent three years coaching the defensive line. From 1985-88, Shaw coached at Northern Colorado where he was the offensive coordinator/offensive line coach.

Shaw earned his bachelor's degree from Cal Poly in 1978 and his master's from Northern Arizona in 1984. Shaw and his wife, Debra, have three daughters, Whitney, Jenna and Aubrey.

Sixth Season

LUKE TRESSEL

Wide Receivers

Recruiting Areas: Florida (Western), Minnesota

Luke Tressel is entering his second season as wide receivers coach with the Gophers and his sixth season overall on Glen Mason's staff. Tressel is well-versed in the many aspects of the Gopher football program and is a valuable asset as a dedicated recruiter.

Last season, Tressel's receiving core improved its productivity as seven Gopher receivers had at least 15 catches, compared to only four during the 2004 campaign. The Gophers improved their average yards per game as well, averaging more than 221 yards per game last season compared to 181.5 yards per game in 2004. Three Gophers - Logan Payne, Ernie Wheelwright and Jared Ellerson - each finished the year with more than 500 yards receiving, the first time in school history three different receivers had at least 500 yards receiving in the same season.

Prior to becoming wide receivers coach, Tressel served as the assistant strength and conditioning coach with the Gophers in 2004. Tressel started his coaching career at Minnesota as a graduate assistant with the offense from 2001-2002. His focus on the offensive side as a graduate assistant was in working with quarterbacks and wide receivers.

During his time as a graduate assistant he assisted with one of the top receiving combinations in Gopher history as Jared Ellerson (909 yards) and Aaron Hosack (814 yards) combined for the second-highest receiving yardage total (1,723) by a duo in school history in 2003. That pair also became only the second set of Gopher receivers to each total at least 800 yards each in the same season.

Rachel and Luke Tressel

Tressel also aided in bringing the big play back to the receiving corps as the Gophers boasted a receiver with the highest average-per-reception in the Big Ten in both 2002 (Hosack, 22.4 ypc) and 2003 (Ellerson, 20.7 ypc).

In 2002, Tressel worked with three players who each had at least 400 yards receiving, which marked the first time that had occurred at Minnesota since 1994.

Tressel is a 2001 graduate of Hamline University with a degree in physical education. He also completed a master's degree in applied kinesiology at Minnesota in 2003. Tressel was a three-year letterwinner and All-MIAC performer at Hamline at cornerback from 1997-2000. His father, Dick, is the running backs coach at Ohio State under Luke's uncle, head coach Jim Tressel. His older brother, Mike, is linebackers coach at the University of Cincinnati.

10th Season

TIM ALLEN

Asst. Athletics Director for Football Operations

Tim Allen is in his 10th season as the assistant athletics director for football operations with the Golden Gophers.

Allen begins his 19th season working for head coach Glen Mason, and as his right-hand man, coordinates the day-to-day operations of the Gophers' football program. Allen's duties include coordinating team travel, bowl game preparations, future scheduling and serving as a liaison between Gopher football and the National Football League (NFL). Allen also serves as the liaison to all university administrative and support areas. He will work closely with University officials and HOK Sport, a Kansas City architecture firm, in the design of TCF Bank Stadium, scheduled to open in 2009.

In addition, Allen works closely with the football booster groups, including the Goal Line Club and Touchdown Club.

During his nine-year tenure at Minnesota, the Gophers have appeared in bowl games six times, including four consecutive bowl game appearances. Minnesota established itself as a respected football program on the national level, recording three consecutive bowl victories with wins over Arkansas in the 2002 Music City Bowl, Oregon in the 2003 Sun Bowl and Alabama in the 2004 Music City Bowl. The Gophers have also been ranked among the top 25 in the national polls in each of the past four years and six of the last seven years. Minnesota has recorded the most wins over a seven-year span (50) since the 1902-08 seasons

The Allen Family

Born July 9, 1958 in Seneca, Kansas, Allen attended Nemaha Valley High School. He earned a bachelor of science degree in health physical education and recreation from Bethel College in North Newton, Kansas, where he played wide receiver and was elected team captain as a senior.

From 1982 to 1986, he served as an assistant coach and admissions counselor at his alma mater. Allen and members of the 1984 Bethel football team were inducted into the Bethel College Hall of Fame in October of 2003, becoming the only football team in the school's history to receive such an honor.

In 1986, Allen accepted a position as a defensive graduate assistant at the University of Kansas. He was promoted to football administrative assistant in 1987 and was retained by Glen Mason when he was named the Jayhawks' head coach in 1988. During his time at Kansas, the Jayhawks made one of the great turnarounds in college football, highlighted by bowl victories over Brigham Young in 1992 and UCLA in 1995. The 1995 team ended the season ranked ninth in the nation.

While at Kansas, Allen served as the academic liaison for football and organized the on-campus recruiting efforts in addition to his other football operations duties.

Allen and his wife, Rochelle, have four children: a son Brett, a daughter Brianna, and twins, Brooke and Brandon.

Sixth Season

DWAYNE CHANDLER

Head Strength and Conditioning Coach

Dwayne Chandler enters his sixth year with the Gopher strength and conditioning staff and his third as the head strength & conditioning coach. Chandler was promoted to that position in April of 2004 after serving as co-head strength coach with the football program in 2003 and as an assistant from 2001-02.

As an assistant with Minnesota's strength and conditioning program, Chandler saw the Gophers defeat Arkansas in the 2002 Music City Bowl to earn their first bowl victory since 1985.

The following season as co-head strength and conditioning coach, Chandler's weight room and running programs were a key part of the Gophers 10-win season, which represented the most wins at the University since 1905. He also helped the Gophers carry the momentum from their final regular season game on Nov. 15 into their bowl game against Oregon on Dec. 31. The Gophers would prevail over Oregon in the 2003 Sun Bowl, winning 31-30 and solidifying their mark as one of the Big Ten's elite. The win over the Ducks marked the first time in school history that the Gophers won consecutive bowl games.

Chandler's drive and intensity wouldn't be satisfied, however, as he continued to challenge the 2004 team. His workouts, lifting sessions and speed and agility testing would push the Gophers to a third straight bowl victory as the Gophers defeated Alabama in the 2004 Music City Bowl.

Chandler's desire to motivate players in the weight room proved valuable in 2005 as the Gophers made their fourth consecutive bowl game, facing Virginia in the Music City Bowl. The result of Chandler's work was seen later in the spring when four Gophers were taken in the 2006 NFL Draft, the most in one draft since an equal amount was selected in 2001. Laurence Maroney was a first-round selection, while Anthony Montgomery, Greg Eslinger and Mark Setterstrom when taken in laster rounds.

The Chandler Family

Prior to arriving in Minneapolis, Chandler gained experience working as an intern in the strength and conditioning department for the University of Oklahoma in 1999 and interning with the Dallas Cowboys in the same capacity in 2000.

A native of Aberdeen, Miss., and two-time state power lifting champion, Chandler graduated from the University of Oklahoma in 2000. He was a four-year letterwinner as a fullback for the Sooners, leading the team in rushing touchdowns as a sophomore. Chandler continued his football career in the professional ranks, playing for the Dallas Cowboys in the 1997 and 1998 seasons.

Chandler has a son, Dwayne Harris, and resides in Maplewood.

EQUIPMENT STAFF

The University of Minnesota football equipment staff may work behind the scenes, but their efforts are evident every single time a Golden Gopher student-athlete takes the field wearing the Maroon and Gold.

The function of the athletic equipment area is complex, labor-intensive, and vitally important to the success of any major college athletic program. In addition to providing superior service for the coaches and athletes, the equipment staff also has responsibilities in the areas of inventory control, purchasing decisions, budget management, safety issues, NCAA compliance and event operations.

The job of the equipment staff is to ensure that the U of M student-athletes have the latest technology and newest equipment in premium conditions to assure the athletes' health and well being. Nike is the exclusive provider of shoes and apparel for the Golden Gophers. The equipment staff provides the Golden Gophers with a superb look on the field of competition and fits Minnesota's student-athletes with the most modern and efficient practice gear.

The Minnesota Football Equipment Room is staffed by two full-time equipment managers who are certified by the Athletic Equipment Managers Association. They are assisted by several student managers that are dedicated to helping U of M student-athletes perform at their highest level.

Transporting football equipment, either to the Metrodome or to any of the other major college football venues in the country, can be a daunting task. Minnesota is fortunate to be the beneficiary of a generous donation of time and equipment from Berger Transfer, one of the biggest Allied Moving Agents in the world. Much of that equipment comes in the form of a 65-foot Maroon and Gold moving truck with the Golden Gopher football logo adorning its sides.

The Dirck's family, which owns and operates Berger Transfer, has long supported Minnesota athletics in many ways, from hiring student-athletes in the off-season to direct gifts to the Williams Scholarship Fund. This is just one of the many ways the Twin Cities community helps the Golden Gophers get the job done.

Spending the last six seasons as the assistant football equipment manager, Jason Nance begins his first season as Head Football Equipment Manager this year.

Nance came to Minnesota in 2000 after a stint as an intern at the University of Cincinnati. He also interned with the Baltimore Ravens in 1998. A native of Louisville, Miss., Nance is a 1998 graduate of the University of Southern Mississippi with a degree in Sports Administration. He also has worked as a video intern for Midwest Sports Channel, served as a freelance producer for several independent cable programs and shot documentary footage of a team of Twin Cities heart surgeons participating in a 2,000-mile bicycle marathon.

He earned a bachelor's degree in speech communications from the University of Minnesota in 1999. Schaaf and his wife, Misti, have two sons, Brandon (3) and Kyle, and reside in Otsego.

SPORTS MEDICINE

Golden Gopher football student-athletes receive the best in state-of-the-art professional athletic and medical care. The football athletic training staff consists of four certified athletic trainers who coordinate the health care needs of the team on a daily basis. Head football trainer Ed Lochrie and his assistants work closely with a staff of physicians, orthopedic surgeons and many other allied health professionals to monitor and provide the best in health care to each student-athlete on a year-round basis. Dr. Pat Smith and Dr. Patrick Morris serve as team physicians and are the cornerstones of the athletic medicine team.

The Dr. J. Patrick Smith and Linda M. Smith Football Athletic Medicine Center is located in the Gibson-Nagurski Football Complex. This new state-of-the-art facility completed in 2006 is equipped to provide for all the health care needs of the football student-athletes. Athletes report to the treatment center for the prevention, treatment and rehabilitation of any injuries or illnesses. Team orthopedic surgeons and general physicians visit the treatment center daily to evaluate and help treat any injury or illness. Chiropractic and massage therapy is also offered in the treatment center throughout the season. If an athlete requires additional specialized care, a network of allied health professionals has been established in the Minneapolis area to provide for those needs.

In addition to the Gibson-Nagurski treatment center, the athletic department maintains six other modern and extensively equipped treatment centers to provide for the 25 various athletic teams. Fourteen athletic trainers staff these treatment centers. All athletic trainers are certified by the National Athletic Trainers Association and are registered in the state by the Minnesota Board of Medical Practice. Moira Novak oversees the entire program as the Director of Athletic Medicine and serves as the head athletic trainer for the women's basketball team. Dr. Elizabeth Arendt serves as medical director overseeing the staff of doctors and works closely with Novak when it comes to policy-making.

Preventive measures are being studied constantly by the University of Minnesota sports medicine staff. A complete computer network linking all six athletic training rooms allows the staff to share information, communicate via InterNet®, and provide and receive data from the Big Ten, WCHA and NCAA Injury Surveillance Systems. The members of the athletic medicine team have been pioneers in educating both coaches and athletes on safe practice principles and proper techniques which, in turn, has led to a reduced injury rate.

Excellent facilities, a knowledgeable and dedicated staff, preventive measures and a continuous desire to provide the best medical care possible to Golden Gopher student-athletes all add up to keep the University of Minnesota team on the cutting edge of the national sports medicine scene.

THE METRODOME

The Hubert H. Humphrey Metrodome, home of Golden Gopher football since 1982, is the nation's largest air-supported, multiple-use facility. It has been the site of two World Series, a Super Bowl and two NCAA Final Fours, and has kept over five million college football fans warm as they watched and cheered University of Minnesota football.

In addition to serving as the home facility for the Golden Gophers, the Metrodome is home to the Minnesota Vikings and Twins. In 1989, it also served as home to the Timberwolves, who set the all-time NBA attendance record in their inaugural season.

The Metrodome is located in downtown Minneapolis, just minutes away from the University campus. Its seating capacity is listed at 64,172, but more than 65,000 fans have packed the place for Minnesota football, including a crowd of 65,089 for the game against border-rival Wisconsin last season. A stadium record 65,184 attended the Minnesota-Iowa game in 2002.

The Golden Gophers have provided their fans with some stellar play in the Metrodome of late. Minnesota has posted a winning record at the Dome each of the last eight seasons, going 35-16 during that stretch. The Gophers also have five wins at the Dome in three of the last four years. The 2006 schedule includes conference games with Michigan, Penn State, Indiana and Iowa, as well as non-conference opponents Temple and North Dakota State.

The noise generated by nearly 65,000 fans has given the Metrodome a nickname: The ThunderDome. Baseball fans around the country will remember the moment during the late innings of Game 6 of the 1987 Minnesota Twins-St. Louis Cardinals World Series when ABC-TV's decibel meter broke because of the mind-numbing roar which bordered on illegal.

No decibel meter has been used during Golden Gopher games, at least not yet. But fans know that it can be deafening when Minnesota scores in one of its border-battle games against Wisconsin or Iowa. The Metrodome has, in its 24-year history, established itself as an intimidating place to play for visiting opponents.

ABOUT THE DOME

The Hubert H. Humphrey Metrodome, which opened in 1982, is financially self-supporting. It is the only public stadium in the country that does not rely on a continuing tax subsidy to finance operations, maintenance or debt payments.

The Metrodome is owned and operated by the Metropolitan Sports Facilities Commission (MSFC), but is home to the Minnesota Golden Gopher football and baseball teams, the National Football League's Minnesota Vikings and Major League Baseball's Minnesota Twins.

The Metrodome is covered by more than 10 acres of Teflon-coated fiberglass. It is the only air-supported dome of its kind in the country, and fans enter the stadium through revolving doors that prevent release of the air that keeps the dome upright. The roof requires 250,000 cubic feet of air pressure per minute to remain inflated. In all, the Metrodome cost less than $75 million to build.

MEMORIAL STADIUM

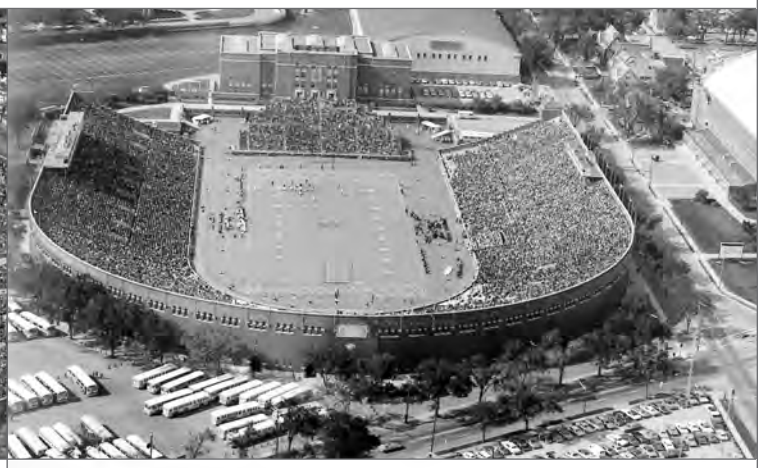
1924-1981

Opened on Oct. 4, 1924, Memorial Stadium served as the home of the Golden Gophers for 57 years. The stadium was dedicated to the 3,527 university workers and graduates who served in World War I, 98 of whom died in service. Built on approximately 11 acres where the current University Recreation Center, Aquatic Center and McNamara Alumni Center stand today, Memorial Stadium had 52,736 permanent seats but could seat over 56,000. The horseshoe-shaped stadium also served as the home track and field facility. With the addition of temporary bleacher seating, more than 60,000 fans could fit into Memorial Stadium as a stadium-record 66,284 fans watched Minnesota face Purdue on Nov. 18, 1966.

The stadium, which took seven months to construct, cost $572,000 to build. More than 475 workers were employed for the construction that required more than 1.4 million feet of lumber, one million bricks and 90,000 sacks of cement. Minnesota played its first game in Memorial Stadium on Oct. 4, 1924, defeating North Dakota 14-0. Tickets for the inaugural game were just one dollar.

The Golden Gophers had a stellar record in Memorial Stadium, including 12 unbeaten seasons at home. They didn't suffer a losing season at home from the building's inception in 1924 until 1950, a span of 26 years.

Memorial Stadium was changed to artificial turf in 1970 but then switched back to natural grass in 1977. The stadium was demolished in 1989 and 2,000 of the original bricks were used in the building of Mariucci Arena. University officials debated renovation of Memorial Stadium, but instead opted for a move to the Metrodome.



GREATER NORTHROP FIELD

1899-1923

Named in honor of University President Cyrus Northrop, Greater Northrop Field opened its doors in 1899. Prior to the stadium's construction, the University of Minnesota played on a field south of the Armory. The grandstand consisted of chairs around the sidelines. When rates for a downtown stadium increased, the University found it a necessity for an enclosed stadium on the campus.

Built in front of Pillsbury Hall, which still stands today, the Northrop Field originally featured a nine-foot high board fence built by the student body. A quarter-mile track ran around the playing field. Alfred Pillsbury organized the building of a massive brick fence that was built around the original grandstand that made Northrop Field unlike any other stadium in the country at the time. The grandstand seated 8,000 fans and was 33 rows high. Additional seating in the end zones added to the seating capacity.

Minnesota played its first game at Northrop Field in November of 1899 against Northwestern where it suffered an 11-5 defeat. The last game was played in 1923 when Minnesota beat Iowa 20-7. Perhaps the most memorable game was a 6-6 tie with Michigan when an over capacity 20,000 fans crowded into the stadium.

1934 NATIONAL CHAMPIONS

The Golden Gopher football program is one built strongly on tradition. After winning the first-ever Big Nine team title in 1900 and outscoring opponents by an incredible 618-12 margin in 1903, the University of Minnesota football team finally won its first national championship in 1934.

Under the leadership of third-year coach Bernie Bierman, the Golden Gophers averaged 33.7 points during the 1934 campaign, relying heavily on a potent running attack. The running game accounted for nearly 295 of the 325 yards the Maroon and Gold averaged each game. The Golden Gophers were equally productive on the defensive side of the ball, shutting-out four of their eight opponents, while holding them to a meager 4.7 points and 103 yards per game.

Three players led Minnesota while earning All-America honors — Francis "Pug" Lund, Bill Bevan and Butch Larson, who earned the honor for a second straight year. Larson became only the fourth Golden Gopher to earn All-America status for two straight years, and is among 14 players to date in Minnesota history to earn such a distinction. In addition to Lund, Bevan and Larson, the Golden Gophers featured three more All-Big Ten players. Perhaps the biggest key to Minnesota's success, however, was a running attack which saw eight different players score touchdowns during the season, led by Stan Kostka with nine touchdowns, including a four-touchdown game.

The talented Golden Gopher team cruised through the first two games of the season with a 56-12 pounding of North Dakota State and a 20-0 victory over Nebraska.

After two weeks of rest, Minnesota looked flat against the Pittsburgh Panthers. They trailed 7-0 after three quarters and were destroyed in nearly every statistical category. The Golden Gophers' hopes for a perfect season were fading. Minnesota was down, but they were not beaten. In the fourth quarter, Larson took the game over by recovering a fumble which led to a touchdown. On the very next series, he threw the winning pass into the end zone. Minnesota's dream for a title refused to die.

The following weekend, the Golden Gophers rebounded in style by crushing the rival Iowa Hawkeyes in Iowa City, Iowa, 48-12. Head Coach Bernie Bierman couldn't have been happier with his team's reaction to their sub-par performance against Pittsburgh. The Golden Gophers held the Hawkeyes to 129 total yards. Minnesota, on the other hand, had little problem moving the ball as they racked up an astounding 514 yards on offense, all of them coming from the running game. Minnesota was led by the exceptional performance of Kostka, who had another outstanding game, scoring three touchdowns, as well as Julius Alfonse, who rushed for two scores.

After dismantling Iowa, Minnesota was still eager to get back on the field. The next opponent was Michigan, and the Golden Gophers sought revenge. They had not brought the Little Brown Jug back to Memorial Stadium since 1927. Michigan came into Minneapolis sporting a 1-3 record and as the game progressed, proved that a vast talent gap existed between the two teams. Minnesota breezed by the Wolverines 34-0 and the Golden Gopher defense continued to impress crowds as they held Michigan scoreless on a mere 56 total yards for the game. In the meantime, the Maroon and Gold running attack never lost a step as five different players scored touchdowns.

The Golden Gophers continued to roll over opponents in the ensuing weeks, beating Indiana 30-0 and Chicago 35-7. Indiana gained a grand total of zero yards against the smothering Minnesota defense, while Chicago was able to manage 82 yards. With four solid games since the Pittsburgh scare, Bierman and the Golden Gophers had every right to be confident about their chances of winning a conference and national championship heading into Wisconsin.

The Badgers were not a high-scoring team, nor did they allow teams many touchdowns. On this day, however, the Golden Gophers flexed their muscle and scored 34 points against a defense that had only allowed 50 previously. With the victory over Wisconsin, Minnesota wrapped up its perfect season and first national championship.

1935 NATIONAL CHAMPIONS

Bernie Bierman started his fourth season as the head football coach at Minnesota in 1935. After leading the Golden Gophers to their first national championship in 1934, expectations ran high for both Bierman and the team.

While the Golden Gophers were hurt by the graduation of three All-Americans from the 1934 season, three other players stepped up their play to earn the same honor in 1935. Tackles Ed Widseth and Dick Smith, along with guard Bud Wilkinson earned All-America honors, while quarterback Babe LeVoir and fullback Sheldon Beise joined the All-America threesome on the All-Big Ten team.

Minnesota opened the 1935 season with a schedule mirroring the previous season with games against North Dakota State and Nebraska to start the year. While the outcome was ultimately the same with the Golden Gophers netting two victories, the offensive production was not quite as stunning. After defeating NDSU 26-6, Minnesota traveled to Lincoln, Neb., to take on the Cornhuskers.

Nebraska showed improvement from the previous season when the Golden Gophers rolled over them 20-0. Minnesota headed into the second quarter trailing 7-6, but was able to put another touchdown on the board before the half to lead 12-7. Nebraska's defense was outstanding the remainder of the game and did not allow the Golden Gophers another touchdown. The Minnesota defense was just as stellar, however, and the Golden Gophers walked away from Lincoln with a 12-7 victory.

While Minnesota's offense was not putting up the same numbers as 1934, the Golden Gopher defense remained just as stifling. Against Nebraska the defense allowed only five first downs and 110 yards, so it was no surprise when Tulane ran into the same brick wall the next weekend in Minneapolis.

The visitors from Louisiana could do nothing right against Minnesota's superior defense, which held them to a mere 60 yards for the game. Minnesota's offense was still sputtering, however, as it managed only 183 total yards, all of them on the ground. The Golden Gophers beat Tulane soundly by a score of 20-0, but there was a bit of concern surrounding offensive production heading into the Northwestern game.

The last time the Golden Gophers played Northwestern was in 1933 when the two teams battled to a 0-0 tie. The result in 1935 was much the same and after three quarters Minnesota held a meager 14-13 lead. Northwestern threatened to move into scoring position late in the fourth quarter, but Wilkinson intercepted a Wildcat pass and returned it to the Northwestern 15-yard line. The Golden Gophers went on to score a touchdown and earn a hard-fought 21-13 win.

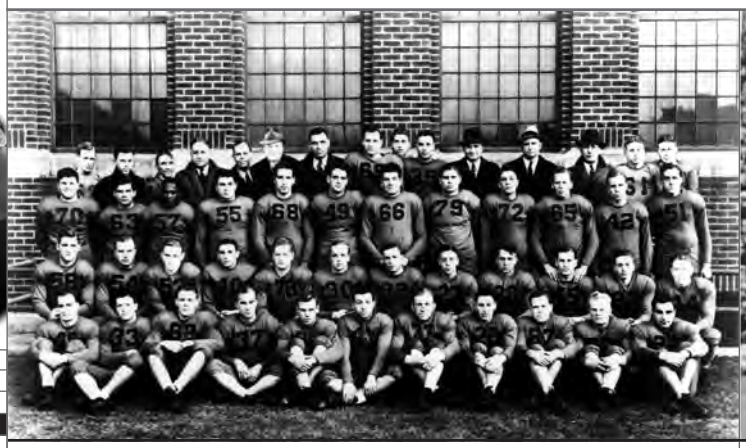
If there was any concern over the status of Golden Gopher football after the Northwestern game, Bierman's squad was quick to put it to rest. The Northwestern game was the turning point for Minnesota.

After Northwestern, the Golden Gophers went on to pound opponents by a total score of 115-20 and Beise scored five of his seven touchdowns for the season in those four games. The Minnesota offense seemed to be back on track, but it was tested one last time against the University of Iowa.

The Iowa game held a bit more importance for Minnesota than it had in years past. After the 1934 game in which Minnesota had knocked Iowa's star running back Ozzie Simmons out of the game, Iowa fans were livid and talks of post game mobs buzzed throughout Iowa City. Governor Clyde Herring expressed the same emotion and said, "If the officials stand for any rough tactics like Minnesota used last year, I'm sure the crowd won't."

This caused some concern for Minnesotans and Governor Floyd Olson. In attempt to cool tempers on both sides, Olson bet a prize Minnesota hog against a prize Iowa hog as a friendly gesture. So began the tradition of "Floyd of Rosedale," with the Golden Gophers winning a clean, hard-fought game 13-6 and Olson earning himself a prize Iowa hog.

Minnesota cruised through the remainder of its schedule, beating Michigan, 40-0, and Wisconsin, 33-7. Once again the Golden Gophers had wrapped up an undefeated season and also a national championship by beating the Badgers.



1936 NATIONAL CHAMPIONS

Prior to the 1936 football season, the Minnesota football team had gone 24 games without a loss and won back-to-back national titles in both 1934 and 1935. Needless to say, a national championship trend had caught on at the U of M, so the goals for 1936 proved to be no different.

What was going to be different about the 1936 season was the level of competition that the Maroon and Gold would face. Instead of beating up on smaller schools in non-conference games, Head Coach Bernie Bierman added two tough games to the schedule. Rather than playing North Dakota State and Tulane, the Golden Gophers would travel to the University of Washington to take on the fifth-ranked Huskies, and then the University of Texas at home. The tough schedule combined with previous struggles the Golden Gophers had experienced against Northwestern and Nebraska, appeared to present a challenge for the two-time national champions.

Minnesota was set to open the 1936 season against Washington in Seattle, but it was a game that almost did not happen.

The Golden Gophers boarded the train in Minneapolis on Tuesday of that week for a four-day trip to the Pacific Northwest. Coach Bierman scheduled two practices along the way, one in Miles City, Mont., and one in Spokane, Wash., but it was a one-night stay in Missoula, Mont., that almost cost Minnesota its chance with the Huskies.

Asleep in the Florence Hotel in Missoula, the Golden Gophers were forced to wake up around 3 a.m. after it was discovered the building was on fire. The fire destroyed most of the hotel, forcing the team to return to the train for the remainder of the evening. Luckily, nobody was hurt in the disaster.

Once in Seattle, as expected, the game proved a tough one for Minnesota. The stadium was packed with 40,000 Washington fans cheering for the local team. The Huskies tied the Golden Gophers, 7-7, in the third quarter, but to no avail.

The play of Minnesota's Bud Wilkinson and Julian Alfonse proved too much for Washington. Wilkinson knocked down several Washington passes and kicked two extra points before catching a 60-yard pass to put the Golden Gophers in scoring position in the fourth quarter. Alfonse almost single-handedly shut down the Husky offense as he intercepted three passes at the goal line and led Minnesota's ground attack. As a result, Minnesota's win-streak remained in tact as they defeated Washington 14-7.

After narrowly escaping from Seattle with a victory, the Golden Gophers returned home to take on Nebraska the following week. With a grueling trip behind them and an improved Cornhusker team on the field, Minnesota had a difficult time with the second game of the year as well. Nebraska put up a valiant fight, but the Golden Gopher defense foiled the Cornhuskers who could not find the end zone in a 7-0 Minnesota win.

The first two games of the season had threatened Minnesota's win streak, but the next two games left no doubt why the Golden Gophers were the reigning two-time defending national champions. Minnesota romped over Purdue 33-0, and handed Michigan a 26-0 loss to bring home the Little Brown Jug for the third year in a row.

The two solid victories against Michigan and Purdue led into another huge game for the Golden Gophers at Northwestern. Northwestern was highly-ranked in the national polls and it appeared as if this game would determine the Big Ten and possibly the national champion.

Game day conditions were less than ideal as wind and rain persisted throughout the game, hindering ball movement by both teams. Neither team made a serious threat to score in the first half and all statistics were virtually even. The scoreless battle continued until the fourth quarter.

The Wildcats scored at the beginning of the fourth quarter, but failed to convert the extra point attempt. Minnesota put together three furious drives, all edging inside Northwestern's 20-yard line. The Golden Gophers were on the brink of defeat for the first time in 28 games. The Maroon and Gold saw their last chance slip away as a fourth down pass into the end zone was batted away with less than six minutes left. Minnesota's win streak was over. Northwestern dealt the Golden Gophers their first defeat in three years.

Minnesota came out of the Northwestern game with something to prove. They did just that. The Golden Gophers ripped through Iowa, 52-0, to bring home Floyd of Rosedale for the second consecutive time. They also crushed Texas, 47-19, and finished off the season against Wisconsin with a 24-0 victory.

Amazingly enough, even with a loss and no Big Ten Conference title, Minnesota was still voted the 1936 national champion. The Golden Gophers may have lost to Northwestern, but allowed only two other opponents to score. The thorough dominance Minnesota had demonstrated earned them an unprecedented third straight national championship.

1940 NATIONAL CHAMPIONS

After three straight national championships from 1934-36, the University of Minnesota suffered its first losing season under legendary coach Bernie Bierman in 1939 when it finished 3-4-1. The experience proved a humbling one for the Golden Gophers who were not accustomed to losing and the result was unpredictable. Minnesota rallied from a mediocre season to win its fourth national championship in 1940.

The Golden Gopher offense was highlighted by the dynamic running tandem of George Franck and Bruce Smith who, together, combined to score over 60 percent of the touchdowns for the Maroon and Gold. Smith starred by scoring winning touchdowns on three separate occasions, while Franck was named an All-American at the conclusion of the season — highlighted by his four touchdowns against the University of Iowa.

Before Minnesota could face a Big Ten opponent, they had to battle with such highly-touted non-conference teams as Washington and Nebraska. Fortunately for the Golden Gophers, both games were at Memorial Stadium.

Heading into the 1940 season, Minnesota had never lost to Washington. The Huskies were ready to change that. Though Minnesota was outplayed in nearly every offensive category, a combination of outstanding kick returns and tough defense allowed the Golden Gophers to squeak by 19-14.

The Golden Gophers were never supposed to get by the Huskies and defeating Nebraska the following weekend seemed even more unlikely. Nebraska knew about the outstanding two-touchdown performance Franck displayed against Washington. Minnesota would have little chance if the Cornhuskers could shut down the running game.

Nebraska's game plan worked wonders on Franck and Smith. What they had not counted on was the superb play of William Daley and William Johnson, who gained nearly 300 yards on the ground for the Golden Gophers. Minnesota's defense once again showed it was golden as it held Nebraska to only 25 yards on the ground. This took the Cornhuskers out of their game and vaulted Minnesota to a 13-7 victory.

Minnesota kept up its streak of close games when it defeated Ohio State 13-7. The Golden Gophers were soundly beaten on paper, and most likely would have been beaten on the scoreboard had it not been for the stellar play of Smith and his two touchdowns.

The next week, Franck finally broke open the Minnesota offense with his four touchdown performance in the Golden Gophers' 34-6 drubbing of Iowa. The celebration would not last long, however, as Minnesota next faced Northwestern — a team that had beaten the Golden Gophers for two straight seasons.

The way Minnesota was playing, Northwestern did not figure to be an overly difficult opponent. They were much improved, however, and the Golden Gopher — Wildcat game had a tradition of being battles to the end. From 1932 to 1949, no Minnesota — Northwestern game was ever decided by more than a single touchdown. The same held true in 1940 as the Golden Gophers edged out Northwestern 13-12. Were it not for two missed point-after attempts by the Wildcats, Minnesota's dream season may have been over.

If college football fans missed the Northwestern game, the game against Michigan proved to be a near carbon copy. Minnesota won, 7-6, once again as a result of a missed point-after attempt. Smith proved to be a major factor in the game as he gained 116 of Minnesota's 205 total yards and scored the lone Golden Gopher touchdown.

After winning two very close games against two quality Big Ten opponents, Minnesota headed into the final two games of the season excited about its chances of bringing a national championship back to Minnesota after a three-year absence. To do so, they would have to get by Purdue and Wisconsin. Neither team proved to be a match for the Golden Gophers as they beat Purdue 33-6, before defeating Wisconsin in the final game of the season, 22-13, to win their fourth national championship in seven years.

1941 NATIONAL CHAMPIONS

After returning to the national spotlight in 1940, expectations for the 1941 Golden Gophers were high once again. On top of an already difficult Big Ten schedule, Minnesota had to go to battle once again with national powers Nebraska and Washington. But talk of another title flowed freely throughout Memorial Stadium.

The real superstar, and the key to Minnesota's national title hopes, proved to be Bruce Smith. While Smith was only the third leading rusher on the team, his outstanding play and attitude on the field earned him widespread recognition. He not only earned All-Big Ten and All-America status, but also became Minnesota's first and only player to ever win the Heisman Trophy. While Smith's individual accomplishments were among the greatest in Minnesota history, the fight that the Golden Gophers put up during the 1941 season was every bit as exciting.

Minnesota opened the 1941 campaign against Washington in Seattle. The Huskies had established themselves as a dominant force, and games between the two teams traditionally proved to be very close.

This season's match-up was to be more of the same. The Golden Gophers managed only 213 yards on the ground, 189 of them between Smith and Bill Daley. In the end it was the Minnesota defense who prevailed, smothering its opponent time after time as the Maroon and Gold escaped from Seattle with a 14-6 victory.

Minnesota opened its Big Ten schedule with the conference doormat, Illinois. As expected, the Golden Gophers rolled over the Orange and Blue 34-6. It proved to be a good preparatory game before another non-conference tilt against Pittsburgh.

Minnesota had not played Pittsburgh since the Golden Gophers won their first national championship in 1934. The Panthers gave Minnesota everything they wanted and more in 1934, but 1941 proved to be a different story. Minnesota dominated the Panthers in every aspect of the game. Despite fumbling the ball away four times, the offense racked up 39 points, while the defense stood strong by intercepting two passes and not allowing the Panthers a taste of the end zone.

After the Pittsburgh game, the Maroon and Gold headed into the meat of its schedule against Michigan, Northwestern, Nebraska, and Iowa. It was clear that if the Golden Gophers wanted to repeat as national champions that this stretch of the schedule would determine just how good the team truly was.

Michigan and Northwestern appeared to be the two greatest threats to Minnesota's title hopes. Both teams had established themselves among the best in the conference and historically had given Minnesota fits. History was on Minnesota's side, however, as they had emerged with victories in almost every close game in the past 10 seasons.

Michigan was looking to rain on Minnesota's national championship parade after the Golden Gophers had defeated them on Bruce Smith's lastminute touchdown the previous season. Michigan was able to contain Smith and Daley reasonably well, but in the end the Wolverine offense could not beat Minnesota's defense and the Golden Gophers squeaked out a 7-0 victory.

Northwestern wanted revenge much the same as Michigan since Minnesota had come away with a one point victory the previous season. Northwestern had luck on its side as Smith was injured and unable to carry the ball for the Golden Gophers. It appeared as if the elements were in line for the Wildcats to dethrone the reigning national champions. It was not to be however. Without Smith, Bud Higgins stepped up his game to gain 96 yards for the Golden Gophers and lead them to another exciting one point win over Northwestern, 8-7.

Minnesotans were somewhat concerned with their chances to win without Smith on the field. Against Iowa Head Coach Bernie Bierman chose to sit Smith out and not risk further injuring his knee. After one quarter, the Golden Gophers had not gained a single yard on the ground. Smith realized that if Minnesota was to win another championship he had to contribute. After convincing coach Bierman to put him in the game, Smith put the Golden Gophers in position to score three touchdowns. While Smith did not gain a large number of yards, he had helped to keep the Minnesota championship hopes alive.

The Golden Gophers closed out their season playing the University of Wisconsin. For the fifth time in eight years, Minnesota beat the Badgers to end the season and wrap up a national championship, making Bernie Bierman the winningest coach in school history.

1960 NATIONAL CHAMPIONS

The 1960-61 athletic season proved to be one of the most productive ever for the University of Minnesota Athletics Department. Swimmer Steve Jackman won the NCAA 100-yard freestyle while setting the American record, and the hockey team placed third at the NCAA Tournament. The crowning achievements, however, were the two national championships the school won. Baseball won its second national title in four years, while the Minnesota football team returned to national prominence by winning its sixth national title.

Murray Warmath entered his seventh season as the Minnesota head football coach on the heels of three consecutive losing seasons.

Expectations to start the season were not very high as the Golden Gophers were not ranked by a single news service. To add insult to pre-season injury, Minnesota lost to the alumni squad 19-7. The outlook for the 1960 season did not appear to be a bright one.

The Golden Gophers opened the season against Nebraska, a game which virtually no one gave Minnesota a chance to win. Minnesota surprised everyone, thanks to strong performances by All-America lineman Tom Brown and quarterback Sandy Stephens. Stephens completed 5-of-6 pass attempts and kept Nebraska pinned deep by averaging 40.1 yards per punt on seven boots.

Minnesota's 26-14 win over Nebraska did not quiet doubters in the least and was considered a fluke. The Golden Gophers headed into the Big Ten schedule with something to prove.

Minnesota opened the Big Ten season with an impressive 42-0 rout of Indiana. Minnesota's offense sputtered in the first three quarters, but exploded for four touchdowns in the final quarter — two within 60 seconds of each other.

The Golden Gophers next looked to a Northwestern team which had beaten them in each of the previous two years. It looked to be a good challenge for Warmath's undefeated team, especially since they had to contend with Northwestern's outstanding quarterback, Dick Thornton. Minnesota's offense stole the show the week before, and now it was the defense's turn to star against Northwestern. Tom Brown repeatedly leveled Thornton on rushing attacks and held him to minus-14 net yards rushing. When Brown was not stopping Thornton on the ground, he was forcing him into poor passing decisions as the U of M came away with a 7-0 victory over the Wildcats.

The Golden Gophers established their defense as among the toughest in the conference, but against Illinois the Golden Gophers flip-flopped positions and they took an outstanding offensive performance to wrap up the game. Stephens starred by scoring all three Minnesota touchdowns en route to a 21-10 win. Minnesota realized that they must play consistently on the offensive side of the ball in order to keep winning.

Warmath managed to get more consistency out of his offense the next three games, while the defense continued to stifle opponents. The Golden Gophers beat Michigan, 10-0, then went on to defeat Kansas State and Iowa, 48-7 and 27-10, respectively. Minnesota appeared to be rolling with only two games remaining in the regular season.

The Purdue Boilermakers were among the worst teams in the conference in 1960 and looked to pose little problem for the seemingly unstoppable Golden Gophers. Minnesota showed flashes of the alumni game, however, and was shocked 23-14 at Memorial Stadium. The loss was huge. It vaulted Iowa into first place in the major polls, and put Minnesota in a tie for first in the Big Ten. The Golden Gophers had a must-win game against Wisconsin to end the season.

The Badgers were also a fairly weak team, but there would be no repeat upset over the Golden Gophers in the final game of the season as Minnesota cruised to a 26-7 victory. Minnesota's win, coupled with an 8-1 record, earned them enough votes to take over first place from Iowa in both the final AP and UPI polls. The Golden Gophers had earned their sixth national championship and first-ever trip to the Rose Bowl in the process.

LITTLE BROWN JUG

Minnesota vs. Michigan

The story of "The Little Brown Jug," neither little nor brown, began at the turn of the century. The fabled "point-a-minute" Michigan football squads, coached by Fielding Yost, were destroying everyone in the nation, and had won 28 straight games heading into Minneapolis in 1903.

The pregame revelry pulsed through the campus. Minnesota had one of its best teams in school history and expected to give Yost's squad a run for their money. Before the game, students paraded across the field with various painted livestock, while fans filtered into the stadium from a constant stream of arriving streetcars. The 20,000 fans, positioned in bleachers, as well as atop trees and telephone poles, remained civil until the Gophers scored a second-half touchdown that tied the score at 6-6. At this point, fans stormed the field in celebration, causing pandemonium so great that the game had to be called with two minutes remaining on the clock.

On the morning following the contest, Minnesota custodian Oscar Munson carried an earthenware water jug to the office of L. J. Cooke, head of the athletics department. Munson pronounced in a heavy Scandinavian accent, "Jost left his yug." Still giddy from the tie, they decided to keep the prize, and painted on its side "Michigan Jug - Captured by Oscar, October 31, 1903," and the score, "Minnesota 6, Michigan 6." The Minnesota score appeared comically "as big as a house," dwarfing the Michigan score beside it. Yost sent a letter asking Minnesota to return the jug. Cooke wrote back "if you want it, you'll have to win it."

The two teams didn't play again until 1909. Michigan won the game that year, and Minnesota dutifully returned the jug. In 1910, Michigan left the conference, and Minnesota didn't have a chance to win it back until 1919. That year the Gophers, led by their star Arnie Oss, stormed into Ann Arbor and pounded the Wolverines 34-7 on their own Ferry Field. When Minnesota asked for the symbolic trophy at the end of the game, their rivals couldn't find it. But the Gopher players persisted, and Wolverine equipment man Henry Hatch came up with it after a short time, saying that he found it "overgrown behind a clump of shrubbery near the gym." Later, Minnesota historians said, "…but most likely it was found in a trophy case inside the gymnasium, easily dusted off and proudly brought back to Minnesota."

Cooke took out his paint brush again to paint that year's result. In the end, his two artistic attempts had taken up the whole surface of the five gallon jug, so when Michigan took it back the next year, the two schools decided to give the entire jug a colorful gloss. Now, the results of 86 games — including two in one season (1926) are embossed on on its sides: 63 won by Michigan, 22 by Minnesota, and three ties. Due to the Big Ten's unbalanced schedule, Minnesota and Michigan did not face each other in either 1999 or 2000, breaking a consecutive streak of annual contests that dated back to the 1929 season.

After a 20-year absence, Minnesota returned the jug to its original home with a last-second victory over Michigan last year in Ann Arbor. Following a 61-yard run with just over a minute remaining, Jason Giannini hit a 30-yard field goal as time expired, giving the Gophers the 23-20 victory. In jubilation of their first win over the Wolverines since 1986, the Gopher players stormed the Michigan sideline to secure the prodigious prize.

Cooke once mused on the strange power within the stonewear crock, "I sometimes think that the jug has been filled with spirits, not alcoholic, but the disembodied spirits of the countless players who have fought for it on the gridiron..."

In many ways, the jug represents the history of college football. It overflows with historic battles for national and conference championships, and may indeed be filled with the spirits of gridiron men who went on to win Heisman Trophies and Hall of Fame honors. It is the most famous of all college rivalry trophies, and no other inanimate object comes close to the aura of tradition like the Little Brown Jug.

FLOYD OF ROSEDALE

Minnesota vs. Iowa

The states of Minnesota and Iowa battle it out every year in college football, when their teams face each other in one of the most emotional rivalries in the country. The winner of the game earns the right to keep the bronze statue of a pig called "Floyd of Rosedale."

The year was 1935, and emotions were running hot heading into the Minnesota-Iowa game. Bernie Bierman's Gophers were 5-0, and Ossie Solem's Hawkeyes were 4-0-1. Iowa had recently been reinstated to eligibility following a suspension for slush-fund violations, a suspension that had been ardently supported by a Minnesota representative. To make matters worse, Iowa fans still remembered the contest from the year before, when Minnesota players had roughed up Hawkeye star Ozzie Simmons so badly that he had to leave the game because of injuries.

The game in 1935 was at Iowa, and the host state had not forgotten either of the incidents. Iowa Governor Clyde Herring incited the fans and joined in the bitter feelings toward the state to the north and its football squad by saying, "If the officials stand for any rough tactics like Minnesota used last year, I'm sure the crowd won't."

Greatly alarmed, Minnesota's Governor Floyd Olson tried to cool the hot heads of fans on both sides of the border with his telegrammed answer to Herring. "Minnesota folks are excited over your statement about Iowa crowds lynching the Minnesota football team. I have assured them you are law abiding gentlemen and are only trying to get our goat...I will bet you a Minnesota prize hog against an Iowa prize hog that Minnesota wins."

The diplomatic tactic eased the tension, and the game was a hard-fought, but cleanly played, 13-6 Minnesota victory. More importantly, no mob of angry fans got involved in any postgame, extracurricular activity. The Golden Gophers brought home "Floyd of Rosedale," an award-winning prize pig which had been donated by Allen Loomis, the owner of Rosedale Farms near Fort Dodge, Iowa, and named after the Minnesota governor.

A few days later, Governor Herring collected Floyd and personally walked him into Governor Olson's carpeted office. About the same time, news surfaced that an Iowa fan had sworn out a warrant charging Herring with gambling. Olson good-naturedly offered asylum, but Herring declined. "I might have to go home and write out a pardon for myself," Herring joked.

Governor Olson later offered Floyd up as the grand prize in a state-wide essay-writing contest, which was won by 14-year old Robert Jones. Jones later sold the hog to the U of M. A year later, the University sold Floyd to J.B. Gjerdrum, a breeder who lived near Mabel, Minn., on the Iowa-Minnesota border, for "about $50" according to Gjerdrum. Sadly, in a death most unbefitting a figure of such stature, Floyd passed on to that great pigpen in the sky. As Gjerdrum noted, "We had him about a year. There was hog cholera around…One day he just leaned up against a straw pile and died."

The spirit of good sportsmanship embodied by Floyd lives on in the form of a 15 1/2-inch high, 21-inch long bronze statue of the prize hog. The sculpture was commissioned by Governor Olson and created by Charles Brioschi, a St. Paul artist.

Every year, since 1935, these two border-state rivals have fought for the right to pen the bronze pig in their own trophy case. During that span, Minnesota has won Floyd 38 times, Iowa has won 31, and there have been two ties. From 1983 to 2000, Minnesota and Iowa saved each other for the most important and emotional season finale slot. Every college football season, Minnesota and Iowa fight for "Floyd of Rosedale," a symbol of how interstate tension can be averted through athletic competition.

PAUL BUNYAN'S AXE

Minnesota vs. Wisconsin

At 115 games and counting, the series between Minnesota and Wisconsin ranks as the longest in Division 1-A football; and "Paul Bunyan's Axe" has the history of one of college football's fiercest rivalries emblazoned on its six-foot long handle. The first game in the series, a 63-0 Gopher victory in 1890, is printed on the handle near the axe's head. The results of every successive game line the handle in red ink. There have been so many games that the scores scroll up and down the width of both sides of the handle, and school officials have now resorted to writing scores on the narrow edges of the six-foot shaft.

By 1930, "Paul Bunyan's Axe" wasn't even created, although the rivalry had already reached feverish levels. The 1906 game was canceled by President Theodore Roosevelt, who had decided to cool off heated college football rivalries, because of injuries and deaths on the field. In 1914, Minnesota faced the Badgers for the Gophers' first Homecoming game; likewise, Wisconsin hosted Minnesota for the Badgers' first in 1919. Between the years 1923 and 1925, the teams battled to three straight ties.

To symbolically capture the amazing atmosphere of the annual match-up, Dr. R.B. Fouch of Minneapolis fashioned a bacon slab out of black walnut to serve as the traveling trophy that he hoped would compare to the well-known "Little Brown Jug," which Minnesota and Michigan played for every year. The "Slab of Bacon," first played for in 1930, had a football carved on top inscribed with an "M" or "W", depending on how you held it. The idea was that the winning team would "bring home the bacon."

But in the early '40s, the Slab of Bacon became the "Missing Slab of Bacon." Peg Watrous, who was the president of Wisconsin women students at the time, relates that she and her counterpart from Minnesota were to have a symbolic exchange after the game, whereby the trophy would be awarded to the winning team. Minnesota won, but in characteristic fashion, a postgame melee broke out on the field, with students and spectators running crazy over the field. Watrous couldn't find her counterpart, and was left "holding the bacon," as it were. "I have no memory of what happened after that…The whole thing was a dud, as I feared it would be," Watrous remembered good-humoredly, "and someone in charge probably hid the bacon."

But the two teams had to play for something, so in 1948 the Wisconsin W Club instituted "Paul Bunyan's Axe" as a trophy more befitting the grand rivalry between the two schools. The annual battles have survived so long that in the '60s the teams started to print the games' final scores smaller and smaller, scrunching the letters in order to avoid reaching the end of the axe's shaft. But the series continued to roll, and the last game to be painted on the broad face of the handle was in 1980. The 25 subsequent games appear on the narrow side of the handle.

The Slab of Bacon was back in the news in the summer of 1994, when the long-lost trophy was found after a Camp Randall Stadium storage room was cleaned out. Wisconsin officials estimated that it had been missing since 1945; yet the scores of every Wisconsin-Minnesota game from 1930-70 were printed on the back of the slab. It is one of those Twilight Zonesque mysteries that remains unexplained, and contributes to the legend of Minnesota's and Wisconsin's "Border Battle" rivalry.

GOVERNOR'S VICTORY BELL

Minnesota vs. Penn State

Like Floyd of Rosedale, Minnesota's fourth and most recent traditional game trophy was founded by a pair of state governors.

Then-acting Governor Mark Singel of Pennsylvania and former Governor Arne Carlson of Minnesota established the Governor's Victory Bell on Sept. 4, 1993, the date of the first Minnesota-Penn State game. The contest, which took place at Beaver Stadium on the Penn State campus, not only marked the first game between the two teams, but also signified the inaugural Big Ten game for the Nittany Lions.

"As the Nittany Lions' initial conference opponent, Minnesota always will occupy a special place in Penn State football history, and we think it is appropriate to mark the occasion in this distinctive fashion," said Singel in 1993. "Governor Robert Casey was an early supporter of Penn State's move to the Big Ten Conference, and I know he looks forward to future conference games involving the Nittany Lions."

"Big Ten athletics has been a tremendously positive experience in the life of our state," said Carlson. "Minnesota's matchup against Penn State is a historic welcome to a school that will further enrich that experience for all of us. This trophy marks a very special occasion, and will allow us to remember it for years to come."

An artists' conception of the Governor's Victory Bell was presented by Singel and Carlson prior to the kickoff of that 1993 game, which Penn State won 38-20. The design of the trophy is a brass bell bearing the medallion of the Big Ten Conference, suspended from a wooden frame. At the top of the frame is a plaque which features the state seals of Minnesota and Pennsylvania, along with the following inscription:

Governor's Victory Bell
Presented annually to the winner of the Penn State-Minnesota football game Established September 4, 1993
Governor Robert Casey, Pennsylvania
Governor Arne Carlson, Minnesota

At the bottom of the base, the Minnesota and Penn State athletics logos appear, along with individual brass plates for inscription of the scores of the games between the two teams.

After a two year hiatus between 1995-96, the battle for the Governor's Victory Bell returned in 1997 when Penn State earned a hard-fought 16-15 victory at Beaver Stadium. The 1998 game returned to the Metrodome for only the second time in the short history of the Bell, where the Nittany Lions earned a 27-17 win. Minnesota took the Victory Bell home for the first time in 1999 when the Golden Gophers scored a historic 24-23 upset over the second-ranked Nittany Lions at Beaver Stadium. In 2000, the Golden Gophers were again victorious, winning 25-16 at the Metrodome.

The Nittany Lions and Golden Gophers didn't meet in 2001 and 2002 and when the series renewed in 2003, the Gophers earned the right to keep the Bell with a 20-14 win in Happy Valley. Penn State claimed the jug for the first time in six years with their 44-14 win over Minnesota last season.

The addition of the Governor's Victory Bell to the Golden Gophers' list of traditional trophy games means that Minnesota now has four active "trophy" rivalries on its schedule, more than any other college football program in the country.

PRO FOOTBALL HALL OF FAME

The Pro Football Hall of Fame was officially opened on Sept. 7, 1963. Located in Canton, Ohio, the original two buildings that made up the Hall of Fame were 19,000-square-feet. Inducted that day were the first 17 members, including Minnesota's Bronko Nagurski. In May of 1971, the Hall of Fame became three buildings and 34,000 total square feet that featured more space for display areas, a movie theater, gift shop and research library. Visitor attendance reached 200,000 annually for the first time that year. Today, new displays and the Game Day Stadium showing the "100-yard Universe", an NFL Films production, adorn the Hall of Fame.

Currently, Minnesota has four former players that are enshrined in the Pro Football Hall of Fame. A fifth former player, Carl Eller will be enshrined in 2004.

Nagurski is the only college player to be named a first team consensus All-American at two different positions before leading the Chicago Bears to three NFL Championships. He was inducted in 1963 as a charter member. Leo Nomellini was a three-time first team All-Big Ten player for Minnesota as well as a two-time All-American. He later went on to play for the San Francisco 49ers and played in every game of his professional career for 14 years. In 1970, he was named to the NFL's 25th anniversary team as one of the all-time great defensive tackles. He was inducted in 1969.

Bobby Bell was one of two Golden Gophers who brought the Outland Trophy to the U of M during his career. Bell won the award in 1962 before guiding the Kansas City Chiefs to two Super Bowls. Bell was inducted in 1983.

Bud Grant was an All-Big Ten end in 1948 and 1949 before he eventually became the head coach of the Minnesota Vikings. Grant coached the Vikings to 11 divisional titles and four Super Bowl appearances. He was enshrined in 1994.

Eller was a consensus All-American in 1963 and a three-time All-Big Ten selection during his U of M career. He went on to play 16 seasons in the NFL, 15 with the Minnesota Vikings. He was a five-time All-Pro and started at defensive end in four Super Bowls for the Vikings.

COLLEGE FOOTBALL HALL OF FAME

A total of 17 former Golden Gopher players are enshrined in the College Football Hall of Fame. They range from Edward L. Rogers, who scored the game-tying touchdown in the famous Little Brown Jug game against Michigan in 1903, to Bobby Bell, who brought the Outland Trophy to the University of Minnesota in 1962. Tom Brown in 2003 and Carl Eller in 2006 are the most recent University of Minnesota inductees.

South Bend, Indiana

In addition, three former Minnesota coaches, Bernie Bierman, Fritz Crisler and Henry Williams, have been inducted into the Hall as well.

The Hall of Fame moved from Kings Island, Ohio, to its current home in South Bend, Ind. The South Bend Hall of Fame opened in the summer of 1995.

The first members of the College Football Hall of Fame were selected in 1951. Today, there are over 800 players and coaches in the Hall.

The Hall of Fame is a part of the National Football Foundation, which was conceived in 1947 by the late Grantland Rice. In addition to sponsoring the Hall of Fame, the Foundation has awarded more than $3 million in graduate school scholarships to college football players.

ROBERT BRUININKS

University President

Robert H. Bruininks was appointed the 15th president of the University of Minnesota on November 8, 2002. He has served the University for nearly 39 years, formerly as professor, dean, and executive vice president and provost.

Positioning for the future

For the past two years, Bruininks has overseen a major strategic positioning effort at the University that has set high aspirations for the University's academic profile, its service to students and the community, and its use of resources.

"The University is undertaking significant reforms in the context of an increasingly competitive global market for talent and ideas," Bruininks said. "Our work is to improve lives through the advancement of knowledge. And our goal is clear-cut: to become one of the top three public research universities in the world."

Thanks to the intensive efforts of hundreds of people who served on strategic positioning task forces, the University is already seeing progress in a number of key areas:

- Adopting an undergraduate writing initiative that will give all students a stronger voice in the world.
- Enhancing academic advising throughout the University to help students achieve their ultimate goals.
- Planning for an Institute on the Environment to help solve the planet's most critical probems.
- Creating three new combined colleges with world-class potential–the College of Design; the College of Education and Human Development; and the College of Food, Agricultural and Natural Sciences–out of six former colleges.

Student Experience and Affordability

Innovations in the University's student experience, such as new on-campus learning communities, and expanded undergraduate research and study abroad opportunities, have helped fuel high student satisfaction rates, increased numbers of applicants for admissions and enrollment, and significantly improved graduation rates. With more than 51,000 enrolled students, the University of Minnesota Twin Cities was the second largest campus in the nation in 2005-06.

Affordability for students here and at the University's three coordinate campuses remains a primary concern for the Bruininks administration, which kept undergraduate tuition increases for 2006-07 at the lowest rate in many years. This year an expanded program, the Founders Opportunity Award, is covering the full cost of tuition and required fees for many low- and moderate-income students. Once fully implemented, the award is expected to benefit 4,500 undergraduates across the University. (To qualify, new students must be Minnesota residents who meet the eligibility for federal Pell grants.)

Bruininks has also made student scholarships his top fundraising priority. Already, 1,500 students are benefiting from a scholarship drive begun in 2004 that is close to reaching an initial goal of $150 million in gift pledges.

Bringing Football Back to Campus:

On May 24, 2006, beneath the preserved arch of Memorial Stadium in the McNamara Alumni Center, a bipartisan group of legislative leaders and Governor Tim Pawlenty gathered for a lively bill signing that authorized funding for a new on-campus Gopher football stadium. For President Bruininks, the University community, and Gopher football fans, it was the joyful culmination of more than three years of fundraising, planning, and forceful advocacy for the return of Gopher football to campus.

The new $248 million stadium, to be called TCF Bank Stadium, will be built across from Mariucci Arena on what are now surface parking lots. It is expected to be ready for kickoff in the fall of 2009. The Gopher stadium bill calls for the state to pay $10.25 million per year for 25 years–approximately 55 percent of the total stadium cost–with the University covering the rest of the cost through private funds and a modest student fee.

"Big Ten college football has a proud history and we now have a chance to renew the best of its traditions at the University of Minnesota," Bruininks said. "It has the power to connect our alumni and fans to our students and to our campus, and it will also provide a home for our great marching band and all-campus events such as convocation and graduation."

About President Bruininks

Bruininks's career has centered on child and adolescent development and policy research, and strategic improvement in the fields of pre-kindergarten to grade 12 and higher education. Initially joining the University's faculty as an assistant professor of educational psychology, he has authored or coauthored nearly 90 journal articles and more than 70 book chapters, as well as training materials and several nationally standardized tests.

During his tenure at the University, Bruininks was instrumental in founding the National Center on Educational Outcomes, the Rehabilitation Research and Training Center on Community Living, and the Institute on Community Integration. He has been honored with numerous awards, including the Kellogg Foundation National Leadership Fellowship. He is president emeritus of the American Association on Mental Retardation and has been elected a Fellow of the American Psychological Association and the American Psychological Society. Nationally, he serves on the J. William Fulbright Foreign Scholarship Board and on the board of the National Association of State Universities and Land Grant Colleges; in Minnesota he serves as a member of the Itasca group and the Minnesota Business Partnership.

Named Minnesotan of the Year by Minnesota Monthly in 2004, Bruininks regularly speaks on behalf of the University of Minnesota in its important role as the state's major research university. After shepherding the University through a nearly 15 percent cut in state funding in 2003, he has helped renew the partnership between the state and the University. In 2005 and 2006, with Bruininks as its chief advocate, the University secured increased state funding for key academic priorities and capital projects.

In November 2005, Bruininks led a group of Minnesota educators to China as part of the governor's trade delegation. In May 2006, he headed a delegation of University leaders to Norway to renew student exchange agreements and deepen research ties with that country's leading universities.

Bruininks and his wife, Dr. Susan Hagstrum, have three grown sons–two of whom played sports at the Division I level–and two grandsons.

JOEL MATURI

Athletics Director

Entering his fifth year as Director of Athletics at the University of Minnesota, Joel Maturi has transformed the Golden Gophers into a model NCAA Division I-A athletic department. A native of Chisholm, Minn., Maturi's leadership, vision and dedication has helped Minnesota achieve four major goals thought almost unattainable prior to his arrival: a merged department, a balanced budget, broad-based athletic success and the dream of returning Golden Gopher football back to campus.

Hired on July 12, 2002, Maturi became the first athletic director of the merged men's and women's athletic departments. He inherited a department that was projected to be $31 million in debt by 2006, planned to eliminate three sports and could only dream of Gopher football returning to campus. Since then, Maturi has guided a department that has operated with a balanced budget, retained the three sports and just recently had the Governor of Minnesota sign a stadium bill that will have Gopher football playing in the on-campus TCF Bank Stadium in 2009.

During the 2005-06 academic year, Maturi guided a department that produced 32 All-Americans, four conference championships and 22 individual conference championships. Minnesota also produced 40 first-team All-Conference performers, five Academic All-Americans and 14 Academic All-District honorees. The Gopher wrestling and women's hockey team each finished second in the nation, while men's golf (3rd), women's cross country (9th), men's gymnastics (9th) and men's swimming & diving (11th) added four more top-15 national finishes. Individually, Greg Eslinger earned the Outland Trophy, given to college football's best interior lineman, while three Gophers - Heather Dorniden, Cole Konrad and Dustin Schlatter each captured individual national championships.

Wrestling, women's gymnastics, men's hockey and women's track & field each won Big Ten Conference team titles. Overall, 16 of the Gophers' 25 sports finished in the top three of the conference during 2005-06, and 19 of the 25 teams advanced to NCAA postseason competition. The Gopher football team qualified for its fourth consecutive bowl game and sixth in the past seven years with a trip to the Music City Bowl. Women's rowing did not qualify for the NCAA team competition, but the First Varsity Eight received an at-large bid to the NCAA Championships, its first in school history. The Gophers rowed to an eighth place finish in the competition.

The department also was involved in hosting several Big Ten, WCHA and NCAA Championships during the year, most notably the 2006 Division I Men's Basketball Minneapolis Region Championship and the 2006 NCAA Women's Frozen Four. Women's rowing had its highest finish ever at the Big Ten Championships, rowing to a second-place finish on Lake Phalen in St. Paul. The Baseline Tennis Center hosted the Big Ten men's tennis championships for the first time, while Ridder and Mariucci Hockey Arenas hosted women's and men's WCHA first round competition, respectively. In March of 2007, Minnesota will be the first school to ever host the NCAA Men's and Women's Division I Swimming & Diving Championships in consecutive weeks. Across University Avenue, Williams Arena will host the NCAA Division I Women's Basketball First and Second Rounds for the third time in four years.

In addition to last year's success, Maturi has been part of a department that has won seven national titles in the last six years, has reached four consecutive bowl games and six bowl games in the past seven years, and has earned consecutive national championships in women's hockey during the 2004 and 2005 seasons while reaching the Frozen Four each of the last five years. The Gopher men's hockey program garnered consecutive national titles in 2002 and 2003, while the women's volleyball program earned its first Big Ten championship in 2002, its first Final Four appearance in 2003 and a berth in the national championship game in 2004. Women's basketball reached national prominence in 2004 with an appearance in the Women's Final Four. The Gopher men's golf team made headlines in 2002, earning the schools' first national championship in the sport. Overall, the Gopher athletic department has placed in the top 25 of the Sports Academy Director's Cup each of the past 11 years.

Academically, the Gophers had 231 student-athletes earn Big Ten All-Academic status during the 2005-06 academic year, the third most in the conference. During the past three seasons, the Gophers have placed 643 student-athletes on the conference's all-academic team, the highest three-year total in school history. Over 50 percent of Gopher student-athletes maintain a grade point average of 3.0 or higher and 24 student-athletes have earned Academic All-American status during Maturi's tenure.

During the 2003-04 academic year, Maturi was instrumental in adding credibility to the Gopher stadium campaign by negotiating a $35 million corporate sponsorship with TCF Bank for naming rights, the largest corporate sponsorship of its kind involving college football.

In addition to TCF Bank Stadium, Maturi has been involved in numerous facility improvements the past few years, including upgrades during the 2005-06 academic year to the men's and women's basketball locker room and team arenas in Williams Arena and the football training and equipment rooms in the Gibson-Nagurski Football Complex. In March of 2006, Maturi oversaw the groundbreaking ceremony for the new boathouse that will be home to the women's rowing program.

Maturi, 61, increased his leadership role within the Big Ten and NCAA during the past few years by being named to several prominent committees, most notably the NCAA Division I Management Council. He has served as the Management Council's liaison to the NCAA Division I Student-Athlete Advisory Committee for the past year. Maturi is also a member of the NCAA Division I Men's Ice Hockey Committee.

Prior to his arrival, Maturi was the Director of Athletics at Miami University (Ohio). At Miami, Maturi was responsible for the management and leadership of 19 sports programs, all support staffs and nearly 600 student-athletes. His first season at Miami was an extremely successful one. The synchronized skating team won a national championship, the men's basketball team reached the NCAA Sweet 16, the volleyball team earned its first NCAA Tournament win, the men's cross country team advanced to the NCAA meet and the football team won 10 games against an impressive schedule. That year, six teams won Mid-American Conference titles while five coaches garnered Coach of the Year honors.

During his tenure at Miami, Maturi spearheaded fund-raising efforts for two important and necessary projects. In his final year, the Walter L. Gross Jr. Family Student-Athlete Development Center was opened and a new baseball field, McKie Field at Hayden Park, was dedicated. Maturi also made an impact on the campus and the community in Oxford, Ohio. He was a recipient of a Campus Impact Award, received an award from the Butler County Board of Mental Retardation & Developmental Disabilities for his efforts to help those in need, the Miami Alumni Association's A.K. Morris Award for his service to the Association and the Myrtis Powell Building Community Award. In addition, he chaired the Central Collegiate Hockey Association (CCHA) executive council in 2001-02, and also served as the chair of the NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship Committee for Region 4 and was the liaison for the men's basketball coaches in the MAC.

Prior to his time at Miami, Maturi served as the Director of Athletics at the University of Denver from 1996-98. At Denver, Maturi led the school's move from Division II to Division I and oversaw the search for Division I conference affiliation. Maturi also assisted in the planning and development of a $50 million Sports and Wellness Center and a $2.1 million tennis complex.

Maturi is no stranger to the Big Ten. From 1987-96, he worked at the University of Wisconsin. While there, he assisted in taking the financially challenged and struggling athletics program to profitability and success. From 1992-96, he was the Associate Director of Athletics with direct responsibility for all aspects of the football, ice hockey, wrestling, softball, men's and women's cross country, men's and women's rowing, men's and women's indoor and outdoor track and field teams, as well as the office of academic affairs. He also chaired the Department's "Support" Program, a wellness program for student-athletes and staff. Maturi was named the Wisconsin Sports Person of the Year in 1993.

Before entering the college ranks, Maturi spent 19 years as a high school coach and administrator at Madison Edgewood High School. He coached football, basketball, baseball and track and field, leading his teams to 10 state tournaments. Maturi was inducted into the Wisconsin Basketball Hall of Fame in 1992.

Maturi received a B.A. in government from the University of Notre Dame in 1967. He also served on the support staff of Ara Parseghian's first national championship team. He earned a master's degree and certification for educational administration from the University of Wisconsin-Platteville in 1985.

Maturi and his wife, Lois, have three grown children, Mark, Katie and Anne.

MEDIA INFORMATION

CREDENTIALS
Requests for working media credentials for 2006 Minnesota home games at the Hubert H. Humphrey Metrodome must be made online at gophersports.com. Please contact the Athletic Communications Office for more information. Credentials may be picked up at the Athletic Communications Office in the Bierman Building on Friday prior to the game, or on Saturday at the media will call area located at Gate D on the southeast side of the Metrodome. Credentials will be mailed at least one week prior to the game to the visiting SID for distribution to visiting media. Working media must enter the Metrodome at Gate D.

CREDENTIALS POLICY
Media credentials are issued on a priority basis with television/radio stations originating a live broadcast, daily newspapers, national publications and television/radio stations who are covering for a nightly news receiving top priority. Web sites must be directly affiliated with an accredited media agency and will be evaluated on a game-by-game basis prior to receiving credentials. Freelance reporters and photographers must be on assignment and all credential requests must come through originating agency. Spouses, children and friends are not allowed in the press box. The University of Minnesota reserves the right to deny media credentials to any individual who is not affiliated with an official news gathering organization.

GOPHERSPORTS.COM
All Golden Gopher football information, including rosters, notes and weekly releases are posted on www.gophersports.com, the official web site of the Golden Gopher Athletics.

E-MAIL SERVICES
Press releases, game notes and advisories are e-mailed to members of the media who cover the Gophers on a regular basis. Media wishing to be added to the list should contact Shane Sandersfeld.

PROFESSIONAL SCOUTS
Professional scouts should contact Lonie Dorholt in the Athletics Ticket Office at 612-624-8328 to purchase tickets for scouting purposes. Big Ten Conference policy does not permit professional scouts to be credentialed.

MEDIA PARKING
Media parking is available in the Metrodome lot on the southeast side of the Metrodome and in the two adjacent lots on the north side of the Metrodome at 300 and 309 Norm McGrew Place. Parking is limited and available at a cost of $120 for the entire season (six games). Requests must be made through the Athletic Communications Office.

RADIO/TELEVISION
Minnesota's live television appearances are designated in accordance with Big Ten contractual agreements and guidelines. Radio booths are assigned for WCCO-AM (830) and the opponent's flagship network. Booth assignments for additional opponent radio stations doing live broadcasts will be made on a space-available basis, with preference determined by the opponents' sports information offices.

PHOTOGRAPHERS
All photographers must present their media credentials at the media entrance outside Gate D prior to the game in order to receive a photographer's armband. Only photographers wearing those designated photo armbands will be permitted on the sidelines. All photographers wishing to shoot from the sidelines are asked to report to the baseball press box and gain access to the playing field through that entrance. In accordance with NCAA and Big Ten rules, photographers are not permitted to shoot within the 25-yard lines (bench area) and must at all times stay behind the 12-foot restraining line that surrounds the field. Requests for photo assistance should be directed to Alicia Jerome, while all requests for assistance with film and video should be directed to Mike Schaaf, director of video services.

TELEPHONE LINES
There are two courtesy telephone lines available in the back row of the football press box for media use on a first-come, first-serve basis. Media who wish to have their own phone line installed should contact Qwest directly at (612) 399-7961.

PRESS BOX SERVICES
Pregame notes, flip cards, stats and programs are available to the media in the football and baseball press boxes prior to the game. Quarter, halftime and final statistics, a running play-by-play and post-game coaches quotes and notes will also be provided. A pregame meal will be served in both press boxes and cookies and fruit will be available at halftime. Tickets for the pregame meal are provided on the media credential and are required at the time of service for those who wish to eat. Beverages are available prior to, during and after the game.

POSTGAME INTERVIEWS
Minnesota complies with an equal access policy. Following a 10-minute cooling off period and then his WCCO postgame radio show, Coach Glen Mason and selected Minnesota players are available to the media in the interview room located on the lower level of the Metrodome. The visiting coach is available in the visiting team interview area which is located on the lower level of the Metrodome, just outside the visiting team locker room.

MEDIA LUNCHEONS
Coach Mason hosts a weekly media luncheon starting at noon each Tuesday throughout the season in the Gibson-Nagurski Complex. Coach Mason will address the media at 1 p.m. Selected student-athletes will also be available following Coach Mason's media conference, class schedule permitting. Media representatives covering the Golden Gophers on a regular basis are invited. For those unable to attend, Coach Mason's comments and live video streaming will be available online at www.gophersports.com.

COACH MASON/PLAYER INTERVIEWS
In addition to his weekly luncheon, Coach Mason is available to the media each Tuesday at 12:40 p.m. CST, on the Big Ten teleconference call. Call the Athletic Communications Office for the phone number to access the teleconference. Media unable to utilize these arrangements should contact the Athletic Communications Office.

In addition to Tuesday's luncheon, player interviews may be conducted Sunday, Tuesday and Wednesday, either before the practice position meetings or after the conclusion of practice, following a 10-minute cooling off period. All phone interviews for out-of-town media will be conducted Monday through Wednesday through the Athletic Communications Office. Home phone numbers for players and coaches will not be released, and they have been instructed not to conduct interviews if contacted without prior approval of the Athletic Communications Office.

All interviews must not conflict with classes, meetings, training room treatments or other team obligations. The locker room and training room are closed to the media at all times. Requests for player and/or coach interviews, either in person or via the phone, will be arranged through the Athletic Communications Office. Please allow 24 hours in order to facilitate arrangements.

PRACTICE INFORMATION
The Golden Gopher football team practices on Sunday and Tuesday through Friday at the Gibson-Nagurski Football Complex and Rod Wallace Field, located at 15th Ave. SE and 8th St. All practices are closed to the general public. The first 20 minutes of Sunday, Tuesday and Wednesday's practice are open to the media. Photographers can shoot B-Roll or still shots during this time. Please contact the Athletic Communications Office for practice times.

Television interviews with Coach Mason will be conducted on a request basis only through the Athletic Communications Office. These interviews will be conducted in the 20 minutes prior to the start of practice and must be requested 24 hours in advance.

All print interviews with players or coaches will be conducted in the Hall of Traditions at the Gibson-Nagurski Football Complex following the completion of practice. All limitations on, or alterations of these procedures for practice will be determined in advance by Head Coach Glen Mason through the Athletic Communications Office.

PHOTOGRAPH REQUESTS
All requests for digital photographs of players and coaches, logos or other multimedia items must be made to Jeff Keiser in the Athletic Communications office. He can be reached at keise004@umn.edu or at (612) 626-1097.
